JAMES J. DAVIS ACQUITTED BY FEDERAL JURY

Tears Fill Senator's Eyes As Verdict Is Announced

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Longstanding lottery charges against U. S. Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, described by government prosecutors as a "Mussolini of the Moose" and by his own counsel as " a great humanitarian," were wiped out by a jury's verdict tonight.

Davis, director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, and Theodore G. Miller, head of the Moose propagation department, were acquitted in federal court after a trial lasting three weeks, three and a half days.

It was the second trial for Davis, the first having ended in a mistrial a year ago.

The senator greeted the verdict with a toss of his graying, leonine head. Tears welled into his eyes. A cheer shook the ancient court room opposite the Woolworth building and spectators pressed forward to congratulate the acquitted men. Sobbing, Davis said:

Never Lost Faith.

"I never lost my faith because I know I was innocent."

Davis and Miller were accused of authorizing the interstate shipment of tickets for Moose "charity balls." The government, contending cash prizes were awarded ticket holders, held the affairs constituted lotteries.

"When the verdict came in I offered my thanks to God," said Davis. "I never lost my faith because I know I was innocent. I am very grateful to the jury, to the court, and to my many friends who never lost faith in me."

Davis, known as "Puddler Jim" from his days in the steel mills as a youth, said he would leave for Washington tonight to address the American Federation of Labor, at the invitation of William Green, its president.

"I expect to get back home to Pittsburgh as soon as possible," he added, "to visit my dear old blind father."

The reference to his father caused the 50-year-old Davis, who rose from immigrant boy to secretary of labor to burst into tears again.

He had waited three hours and five minutes for the jury's verdict. The vigil was broken only once, when the jury sent out for Moose records concerning a $150,000 note which had been guaranteed by Davis.

When the jury filed in and Foreman Frank J. Derr announced the verdict, Senator Davis' son, James, Jr., embraced him unrestrainedly. Miller wept.

"Sit down," cried a bailiff as the crowd surged forward, "and cease this unseemly conduct."

Judge Johnson Hayes retired from the bench and Davis and Miller were propelled toward the jury box, where they shook hands all around. Then they left, Miller saying he planned to return tomorrow to his home in Aurora, Ill., where his wife and baby await. His headquarters are at the order's national home at Mooseheart, Ill.

Judge Hayes began his charge to the jury shortly after noon.

He discussed the two counts of the indictment which charged use of the mails for the sending of tickets and said of the last count: "Conspiracy is a corrupt or unlawful agreement between two or more persons to violate the law, but it is not complete unless some overt act is done to carry it into effect."

EATS TOADSTOOLS, DEAD

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 12.—Toadstools he ate last Sunday today caused the death of Joseph Pruszkowski, an employe of the National Stock Yards. Six other persons who ate the toadstools, which were mistaken for mushrooms, are ill.

WEATHER

PRISON ISLAND FOR GANGSTERS IS SELECTED

Attorney General Of U. S. Outlines Plan To Newspapermen

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—A prison island with bluff, rocky shores, unfriendly alike to escape attempts and to conniving friends, has been selected by the justice department for the future home of desperate gangsters, kidnapers and other persistently troublesome federal convicts.

Attorney General Cummings, in outlining the plan to newspapermen, said the prison island would be used to detain underworld characters who foster rebellion among prisoners, attempt to bribe guards and have influential organized gangster friends at large who are constantly attempting to aid in their escape.

Alcatraz Island was selected for the purpose. Its rocky shores rise precipitately from San Francisco Bay. It is more than a mile from the nearest mainland point. A swift forbidding current swirls constantly around it. In all its long history as a military prison not one inmate has escaped.

The attorney general indicated definitely that Harvey Bailey and George Kelly, sentenced to life terms for the Urschel kidnaping, would be sent to the island. Asked about Al Capone he was non-committal.

Cummings pointed out that both Bailey and Kelly have made repeated threats to escape, and added his belief that both should be kept away from the main body of federal convicts.

Cummings said the most troublesome criminal type recognized by penologists was the "recidivist," the repeater who makes a business of crime and who could not be reformed by corrective treatment.

In this category, he placed the gangster and racketeer and kidnaper. The segregation of the most vicious of these, Cummings said, would be a distinct advance in the department's battle against organized crime.

Expanding the idea in an address tonight before the American Flag association, Cummings said:

"Our records demonstrate that a large percentage of the serious crimes are committed by men who have escaped from prison. These men operate in groups and make a study of methods by which to avoid punishment when they are caught. At large, they prey upon the public; confined they plan and encourage prison outbreaks.

"Intimidation, bribery and violence are their accustomed methods. x x x

"It was not my purpose to find a prison in which the inmates would be subjected to any unusual or unreasonable environment, but rather a place which would be apart and inaccessible, so that the holding of the inmates would be assured and their influence removed from that of the better class prisoners.

"You can appreciate therefore, with what pleasure I make public the fact that such a place has been found. By negotiation with the war department we have obtained the use of Alcatraz prison. x x

"It has secure cells for 600 persons. It is in excellent condition and admirably fitted for the purpose I had in mind. Here may be isolated the criminals of the vicious irredeemable type so that their evil influence may not be extended to other prisoners who are disposed to rehabilitate themselves."

WILKO DRENTH TAKES OWN LIFE

Sumner, Ia., Oct. 12—(AP)—Wilko Drenth, 71, father of Henry F. Powers, hanged last year as West Virginia's Bluebeard slayer, shot himself to death last Friday at the home of his grandson, Everett Schroeder, Jr., near here it was learned today.

No motive was ascribed for the suicide, although authorities expressed the opinion Drenth had brooded over his son's conviction and execution.

Powers, whose true name was Harm Drenth, known as the "mail order Romeo" was convicted and executed as the slayer of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., nurse.

Power also was indicted for the slaying of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher of Park Ridge, Ill., and her three children. He was tried only on the first charge at Clarksburg, W. Va., and was hanged in the Moundsville prison March 18, 1932. He was also known as Cornelius O. Pierson.

SENATE DIGS DEEPER INTO DILLION DEAL

F. Pecora Charges That Prices Were "Pegged"

By Don J. Kirkley,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Into a tale of pyramiding profits to Dillon, Read & Company from Brazilian and Bolivian loans, Ferdinand Pecora today interjected before the Senate banking committee a charge of pegging prices by market operations and concealment of impending default.

Evidence to show that payment of interest on some of the Brazilian securities was made by Dillon, Read from a special fund created from the bonds, instead of a remittance from Brazil, and that bondholders were not apprised of whence the money came, was put before the market inquisitors by Pecora, counsel for the committee.

Make Profits.

During the day's hearing, he developed that the New York banking house and associated bankers realized approximately $6,000,000 in profits from handling about $130,000,000 in bonds of the two South American republics, virtually all of which now are in default, and valued at only a fractional part of the amounts for which they were sold.

Pecora planned to wind up the inquiry into Dillon, Read tomorrow and turn to H. C. Hopson, executive vice president of the Associated Gas and Electric Company, for an examination of private books of companies directed by Hapson.

Robert O. Hayward, Dillon, Read partner who was in charge of the South American flotations, was examined at length today by Pecora about these transactions.

Early in the proceedings, Pecora brought out that a 60-day trading account was established by bankers in floating $50,000,000 in Brazilian bonds in 1921 to hold the price up.

He explained the purpose was "so the public subscribing will not be at a disadvantage through falling prices and to enable the underwriters to dispose of the issue."

Late in May, 1931, Pecora brought out from the witness, Dillon, Read announced the interest due June 1 on these bonds would be paid, and cabled the Brazilian government this was done to strengthen their position.

The money came from a $500,000 fund set up by the Brazilian government from receipts of the loan by Dillon, Read represented by the bond issue, and which the government was supposed to maintain intact.

Hayward denied an assertion by Pecora that this meant the bonds were in default at that time, but a moment later the committee counsel presented to him a letter from Dillon, Read to the Brazilian consul in New York calling the situation a default.

This letter, Pecora contended, quoting from it, showed the bankers were trying to conceal the true picture of conditions from bondholders, and indirectly moving to stave off bondholders' protective committees.

Hayward explained it was intended to impress upon the Brazilian government that the money taken from the special fund had to be restored.

He contended that an announcement of a default would have hurt the bondholders.

Pecora developed that under the loan contract, Brazil agreed in case of default to arrange to meet the bonds' revenues from a consumption and stamp tax. Hayward said Brazilian currency was being deposited in that country toward meeting the bonds, but that he did not know whether it was from these sources.

Hayward reiterated a confidence that the bonds would be paid by Brazil, and told the committee that funding bonds issued at five per cent since the defaults in 1931 had been taken by 80 per cent of the bondholders.

Dillon, Read profits were put at just under $3,000,000. Pecora stressed that the bonds were bought by Dillon, Read at from 88 to 91 and sold to the investing public at from 92.5 to 98.5.

Pecora said he would take up tomorrow a Bolivian issue for $23,000,000 in 1928, of which approximately $6,000,000 went to pay off a debt to the Armstrong-Vickers Company of England for armament and other defense materials incurred in 1926.

ILLINOIS CORN CROP IS SHORT

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 11—(AP)—Illinois corn crop prospects were placed at 45 per cent short of last year's yield today by the October crop report of the Illinois and federal departments of agriculture. The probable yield is 26.5 bushels per acre, 28 per cent below the average.

Three-quarters of the Illinois crop was safe from frost damage at the beginning of the month, said A. J. Surratt, senior agricultural statistician reports. Feed grains and hay production is below average but soy bean prospects improved materially with hot, dry weather furing September.

Largest yields are expected from western areas of the state, the report stated.

SHIPS WITHDRAWN

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—The state department late today announced that four American ships were being withdrawn from the Cuban area.

The ships withdrawn were the coast guard cutters Hunt from Matanzas, and Gresham from Puerto Padre, and the destroyers Hamilton from Manzanillo and Goff from Cienfuegos.

Western Kentucky Operators Will be Required to Appear Before N.R.A. Board, Claim

By James Cope,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—NRA met a challenge of its authority tonight with a declaration by Senator Wagner of New York, national labor board chairman, that western Kentucky mine operators who had refused to attend an arbitration hearing "will be required to appear."

"People sometimes overlook the fact that we have all the power there is under the industrial act and all the sanctions of the law to prevent its violation," he said in promising action tomorrow that would cause the coal men to reconsider. He added an informal opinion that this result would be obtained without recourse to legal steps or to any formal force.

Postpone Answer.

The answer to another refusal to abide by NRA decision, that of New Rochelle, New York, employers who were ordered to take down their Blue Eagle insignia, for alleged violation of the presidential re-employment agreement, was postponed by NRA until a formal report could be received.

At the same time, however, Hugh S. Johnson, the recovery administrator, issued a statement saying no employer could voluntarily surrender the Blue Eagle, and that local compliance boards must deal with anyone who attempted to do so, either granting exceptions to the agreement terms if conditions required or getting after competitors if their non-co-operation was responsible for a merchant's attempt at surrender.

Western Kentucky mine operators had been summoned to a hearing today to consider their refusal to deal with the United Mine Workers and insistence upon recognizing only the independent miners' union, labelled by U. M. W. spokesmen as a "company union." One operator appeared, three wired they would not come, seven including the Operators Association of Western Kentucky ignored the summons.

What they ignored, said Wagner, was the authority of the president of the United States.

"But they won't ignore that long," he added.

The operator who did appear was C. F. Richardson of the West Kentucky Coal Company. He, however, insisted on remaining outside the hearing, sending in attorneys who raised technical objections.

"I told them we are not bound here by common low rules of evidence. We are here to ascertain the truth," Wagner told newsmen afterwards.

The board, he said, would decide Richardson's case tomorrow. The incident of the attorney, coupled with previous such happenings, caused Wagner to assert that his board wanted principals at his sessions, not legal spokesmen with no authority to act.

The decision on the Weirton Steel Company's refusal to agree to arbitration of its strike before all the men come back to work will be considered by the board tomorrow, said Wagner, adding that he did not regard the telegram sent him by E. T. Weir, head of the company located at Weirton, W. V., as final rejection of arbitration.

Johnson's statement on Blue Eagle surrenders, said:

"There have been a number of stories in the newspapers in scattered sections telling of a few people who obtained the Blue Eagle by signing the president's re-employment agreement and who have 'voluntarily surrendered' the Blue Eagle.

"There is no such thing as a voluntary surrender of the Blue Eagle. In the event of a member failing to comply with the obligations he assumes when he signs, the NRA may deprive him of the use of the insignia. When a member accepts the president's agreement, he pledged himself until December 31, 1933, to do everything in his power to co-operate with the president in his great recovery program. The local compliance board will deal with such cases.

"These compliance boards are empowered to relieve individual merchants or other employers of full compliance with the agreement in cases where such compliance would work unavoidable and serious hardship. In cases where chiseling under the agreement by competitors is the cause of inability to fully comply, the compliance boards are obligated to investigate and report to Washington where resides the only authority for separating a member of the NRA from the Blue Eagle."

Woman Claims It Is Easy To Pass Worthless Checks

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Arrested today on a charge of passing worthless checks for $28, Miss Ruth Wilson, twenty and pretty, was quoted by police as saying:

"But I have never passed bad checks on a friend. Anyone who cashes a check for a stranger deserves to lose his money. I have found that it is easy for a good-looking woman to get money on checks."

Miss Wilson has served sentences in the St. Louis workhouse and the Missouri penitentiary for passing worthless checks. She was paroled from the penitentiary six months ago.

27 AMERICANS ARE ATTACKED BY GERMANS

Three Countries Join United States In Protest

By Louis P. Lochner
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Berlin, Oct. 12—(AP)—Three other countries today joined the United States, 27 of whose nationals have gone on record in affidavits, in expressing deep concern over attacks during recent months upon their countrymen by German citizens—in a number of cases storm troopers.

Simultaneous with receipt by the American Embassey of instructions from secretary of state Cordell Hull to inquire as to what steps were being taken toward prosecution of the Germans, it was learned the Dutch legation and the British and Spanish Embassies had received similar messages.

Future Relations

All made plain future relations with Germany may hinge on the outcome.

While an appointment for William E. Dodd, American Ambassador, to present Mr. Hull's note to the German government has not definitely been scheduled, it was intimated the meeting likely would be Friday. The German press has not mentioned Mr. Hull's message.

Earlier representations have been made by Switzerland, Poland, Russia, Austria and Szechoslovakia. All these and the four latest complaints appeared to hinge on a contention that outside of an apology by the foreign office, little else has been done.

The record of the affidavits filed by the 27 Americans, all covering cases since April 4, shows that only two persons have been taken into custody, one of them being fined 50 marks (about $17.50). No information could be obtained as to when the other German, a storm trooper accused of assaulting Dr. Daniel Mulvihill, of Dan-

GUNMAN KILLS SHERIFF, FREES HIS COMPANION

Officer Reaches For Gun As Men Enter Jail But Bandit Fires First

Lima, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Sheriff Jess Sarber, 50, died in Memorial hospital here tonight, the victim of a bullet fired by one of three gunmen who a short time earlier released John Dillinger, identified as a bank robber, from the county jail, after shooting Sarber and locking his wife and a deputy in a cell.

Sarber told newspapermen that the three strangers walked into his office tonight and said they had come to claim custody of Dillinger.

"Where are your credentials?" Sarber said he demanded.

One of the three produced a revolver and said "these are our credentials. Turn him over."

Sarber made a move toward a gun and the gunmen fired.

The sheriff fell to the floor. Mrs. Sarber and the deputy attracted by the shot ran to the office which adjoins the Sarber home, and were seized by the gunmen and locked in a

No one had been found early tonight who saw Dillinger and his three deliverers leave the jail or city.

The delivery occurred about 6:45 p. m.

Dillinger had been captured at Dayton Sept. 28 at the home of a sister of one of the ten Indiana convicts who escaped two weeks ago from the Michigan city prison.

Subsequently, Dillinger was identified at Dayton as the man who had participated in holdups of banks at Bluffton, O., Indianapolis, Ind., and Farrell, Pa. He was brought here under a heavy guard last week on charges of robbing the Bluffton bank of $2800 last summer.

DISCREDITS REPORTS

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—Secretary Ickes today discredited reports that the public works board was considering construction of the All American Power Irrigation canal in the Imperial Valley in California as a federal project.

In the event an allotment was made for the canal, he said, it would be on the repayment basis such as is the case in other reclamation projects.

GUS WINKLER'S FUNERAL TODAY

St. Louis, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The body of Gus Winkler, gang overlord who was listed by police here a decade ago as an "undesirable punk" arrived here from Chicago tonight.

Accompanying the body were the gangster's widow, Mrs. Georgette Winkler, his brothers, Joe, and about a dozen other persons.

Two trucks were required to haul the flowers which accompanied the body to an undertaking parlor.

Photographers had taken only a few "shots" when two burly men in the funeral party set upon them, striking one and kicking the camera of the other.

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. tomorrow at an undertaking establishment on Lindell Boulevard. Burial will be in Pine Lawn cemetery, in St. Louis county, where Winkler's parents are buried.

ACCEPT "CHECK-OFF"

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—Steel manufacturers operating their own coal mines in the western Pennsylvania strike area have notified President Roosevelt of their qualified acceptance of the "check-off," under which operatives deduct union dues from miners pay envelopes.

WILLIAM GREEN IS RE-ELECTED BY LABOR BODY

All Officers Will Serve Federation Another Year

By Clarence M. Wright

Washington, Oct. 12—(AP)—Apparently satisfied with the program of its present leaders, the American Federation of Labor in convention today reaffirmed its traditional opposition to unrestrained inflation, pledging its support to President Roosevelt's recovery program and reelected its officers for another year.

Renewed assaults upon the federation's activities since NRA proved only short uprisings that went down under the mass of votes behind the ruling officers

Finally, President William Green turned over the gavel to another delegate and sat while John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, eulogized him and nominated him for re-election. The delegates, mindful that Lewis had participated in two attempts to lessen the strength of the controlling officers, arose and cheered.

Without further ado, the nominations were closed and Green by acclamation became the leader of more than 3,000,000 workers for another year. The eight vice presidents, who had his backing, also were re-elected, as were Frank Morrison, secretary of the federation, and Martin F. Ryan treasurer.

Endorsing directly Green's statement at the opening of the convention that unrestrained and unregulated inflation would harm the worker, the 600 delegates then approved a resolutions committee report saying:

"Whether minimum wages are fixed by codification through the National Recovery Act, or by voluntary collective agreements between organizer workers and associated employes, the fact remains that they are fixed and subject to change only after the most persistent and aggressive pressure on the part of wage earners.

"If our currency is to be allowed to fluctuate at random, and the level of money values is permitted freely to lessen, it must be apparent that with wages remaining at their fixed denominational values, there will then be experienced a corresponding lowering of the wage levels and earnings Such a condition must not be allowed to take place."

This report also instructed the federation's executive council to "resort to every possible and practical means at its command to prevent "unrestrained currency inflation.

Despite an attack on the floor by Frank X. Martel of Detroit on the appeal of Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, for arbitration instead of strikes, and Martel's assertion that strikes would continue if the "Recovery Act is going to continue to be prostituted in the interests of business," the convention agreed:

"The president may rest assured of the whole-hearted support of the American Federation of Labor in his great undertaking."

BROOKLYN REVOLT TO JOSEPH MCKEE GROWING, CLAIM

New York City's Mayorality Candidates Are Framing Campaign Issues

By Francis A. Jamieson
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Democratic revolt in Brooklyn and Queens to Joseph V. McKee's almost obliterated party lines today as the city's mayoralty candidates completed framing the campaign issues.

Following in the footsteps of many of John H. McCooey's district leaders, the Women's Democratic Forum of Brooklyn suddenly cancelled plans for a huge rally for Mayor John P. O'Brien, Tammany candidate, on Oct. 17.

The forum, McCooey's women's organization, was reported to be awaiting only the action of the Brooklyn Democratic executive committee on Monday—a meeting the veteran leader was forced to call by his workers—before openly declaring for McKee.

Tammany leaders, however, expressed confidence in the ability of McCooey, confined to his bed with a slight cold, to hold his iron clad grip on the Brooklyn organization and block a switch to McKee.

In Queens Representative William F. Brunner, who served in the state assembly with the Bronx candidate, announced he would back McKee.

Meanwhile, Samuel Seabury, arch foe of Tammany and secretary of State Edward J. Flynn, backing McKee, carried the campaign to elect Fiorello H. La Guardia, fusion nominee, into the Bronx.

Attacking the "twin Tammany candidacies of O'Brien and McKee," a group of 39 Liberals, including authors, editors, publishers, socialogists and lawyers, announced their support of La Guardia.

The campaign was under full swing. Each of the major candidates has expounded his campaign doctrine. Briefly the are:

La Guardia: To convince the electorate that McKee is a tool of Flynn and Postmaster General James A. Farley in seeking to oust Curry as Tammany leader.

McKee: To overthrow Tammany Hall—"The invisible government"—and reject La Guardia, "publicity seeker" who is dominated by Seabury.

O'Brien: To stand on his record as mayor for a year—and to appeal to regular Democrats to back their primary nominee.

FARM RECOVERY CHIEFS OPPOSE PRICE MARKUPS

Agreement Is Reached After Conference In Capital

By Roy F. Hendrickson,
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Copyright by the Associated Press.
1933.

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's industrial and farm recovery chiefs will recommend against administration approval of minimum price mark-ups for the nation's retail industry as proposed in distribution codes that are awaiting action, and that the government contribute its efforts to stop price cutting.

The leaders, it was disclosed tonight, will suggest that the administration offer to list as an unfair trade practice the sale of merchandise below the invoice cost to the retailer.

The basis for the agreement was reached by Secretary Wallace, Hugh S. Johnson, the NRA administrator, and Farm Administrator George N. Peek, during a conference at which it was also decided to harmonize fully the fundamental policies of the two emergency agencies.

If approval is given at the White House, and this appeared certain tonight, it would mean rejection of a minimum retail mark-up by the food and grocery industry of seven and one-half per cent over delivered cost, and a 10 per cent minimum mark-up by other retail groups.

Farm administration officials today completed a four-day hearing on the master food code. Besides calling for the seven and one-half per cent mark-up by retailers, it proposed a minimum mark-up of two and one-half per cent for wholesalers.

The remaining distribution groups, with their proposal for a minimum of 10 per cent, come under the jurisdiction of the NRA, which hopes to complete action on the code within a few days.

Peek has been an outspoken opponent of the mark-up in the food code and recently authorized Dr. Frederick C. Howe, consumer's counsel for the farm administration to make a public attack on the minimum mark-up plan.

It was reported that at today's conference between Wallace, Johnson and Peek it was agreed that the task of enforcing the minimum mark-up provisions would be difficult and that the administration's principal interest—stopping the sale of "loss leaders"—could be served without authorizing the minimum mark-ups

Peek and Johnson, long associated in business and public service, both were represented as hopeful that the sale-below-cost prohibition will be sufficicent to insure elimination of "loss leaders" in retail distribution.

The practice of selling articles below their cost in order to stimulate trade is blamed by Peek for having a depressing effect on prices of raw materials sold by farmers.

He believes that losses resulting from this competitive practice should not be reflected in the prices paid farmers and that they need not be if retailers agree in the codes not to sell below cost.

Peek recently asserted that the purpose of the farm act and his efforts in the recovery program center about increasing prices to farmers.

"The agricultural adjustment act," he said, "is designed primarily to obtain parity prices for farmers. It does not provide for the guaranty of profits to any distributing agency."

DIRIGIBLE MACON LEAVES FOR WEST

Lakehurst, N. J., Oct. 12—(AP)—The navy dirigibie Macon left at 6:05 p. m. (EST) today for Sunnyvale, Calif., where she will make new permanent base as a member of the Pacific fleet.

Commander Alger H. Dresel, 13 officers, 55 enlisted men and three civilian were aboard. The flight is expected to take about 60 hours, ending in Sunnyvale about dawn Sunday, (Oct. 15.).

The ship will take a southern course over Richmond, Macon, Shreveport, Ft. Worth and Pheonix.

About 5,000 persons gathered at the hangar to wave a wistful farewell to the shining silver shell which, since July, has been at Lakehurst, traditional home of giant aircraft. Her departure leaves the future of Lakehurst as a navy air base in doubt.

For Commander Dresel and his crew it was a gay occasion. More than half the men on board are on their way to meet wives and children who have already gone to California to make their home.

KELLYS GIVEN LIFE TERMS IN PENITENTIARY

Convicted At Close Of Three-Day Trial

By Fred Vanderschmidt
Associated Press Staff Writer

Oklahoma City, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Prison "for the rest of your lives" was the government's firm answer today to the arrogant George Kelly and Kathryn, his wife, last of the Urschel kidnaping principals to be branded guilty.

Convicted at the conclusion of a swift, three-day trial, the machine-gun hoodlum and his modish, 30-year-old wife with surly mien heard Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught pronounce the maximum sentences possible under the "Lindbergh law."

Six of the nine persons convicted in the two Urschel conspiracy trials now are under life sentence and two of them—Harvey Bailey and Albert Bates—already are behind Leavenworth's prison's red brick walls.

Mrs. Ora Shannon, mother of Kathryn, and her step father, R. G. Shannon, are the other two sentenced to life imprisonment.

District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde, 35-year old chief prosecutor, said he would ask the court to join him in an "unqualified recommendation" that no clemency be shown at any time to any of those convicted.

"My pekingese dog would have got a life sentence in that court," muttered Kathryn, whisked with Kelly to the county jail to await transfer to prison within a few days.

She hinted of rebellion unless she is committed to the same prison where her mother is sent for her part in the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

"I'll go stark, raving crazy, if they separate us!" she said. "If they send us to the same place where I can watch over my mother, I'll be good.

"They know I've got plenty of friends who will come and get me if I say the word. But if I'm with mother I won't want to escape."

Federal authorities have made no definite announcement as to the women's imprisonment, although they have indicated the mother and daughter might be sent to separate prisons, Kathryn probably to the one at Alderson, West Virginia.

Kelly, who chewed a wad of gum and grunted out of the corner of his mouth at his wife as they stood before Judge Vaught and received sentence, maintained a glum silence. He will be taken to Leavenworth federal prison by plane, and from there perhaps to the Atlanta penitentiary.

The Kelly jury, which took just one ballot last night and then sealed its verdict, filed into the jammed courtroom at 9:35 o'clock this morning for the 13-minute session.

As the court clerk read the verdict, Kathryn stared steadily at the floor. Kelly gazed ahead without change of expression.

Quickly, Judge Vaught overruled new trial motions.

"Do either of you have anything to say before I pronounce sentence?" he asked.

"No," Kathryn replied. Kelly shook his head.

"The jury has found you guilty and the court concurs in their verdict," Judge Vaught continued. "It is the judgment and sentence of this court that you and each of you be taken to the federal penitentiary, there to remain for the rest of your lives."

The Kellys will appeal. Kathryn said she was confident the new kidnaping law under which the accused conspirators were convicted would be held unconstitutional.

About her 15-year-old daughter, Pauline Frye, to whom she deeded a Fort Worth house, clothing, jewelry and automobiles worth thousands of dollars, Kathryn was not particularly concerned.

Pauline "guessed" she'd go back to the Shannon farm near Paradise, Texas. The Shannons' 22-year old son, Armon, whom the court granted probation, left today for the farm after a tearful farewell.

Kathryn, sometimes smiling, sometimes crying, had testified virtually alone in her own defense, declaring she was forced into the conspiracy by threats from her hoodlum husband. Had it not been for her, she contended, Kelly would have killed Urschel while he held him captive on the Shannons' farm near Paradise, Texas last July. She threatened to "tell on" Kelly if the millionaire died and even "begged" him to free the captive, she testified.

There was not a word of defense from Kelly. Prosecution witnesses pointed to him as the actual kidnaper, with Bates; as the brusque figure who snatched a handbag containing the $200,000 ransom from Urschel's intermediary, E. E. Kirkpatrick, on a Kansas City street and as the author of vicious death threats directed at the Urschel family, the prosecutors and even Judge Vaught.

The government portrayed Kathryn as the willing conspirator at every stage, from her purchase of a machine-gun used in the kidnaping to writing Urschel death threats for her husband in a Chicago apartment, a few days before the couple was captured in Memphis as a result of the story of 12-year old Geraldine Arnold, whom they used as a "shield" in their haphazard flight.

NAMED CHAIRMAN

Indianapolis, Oct. 11—(AP)—Mrs. William H. Biester, Jr., newly elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, today announced the appointment of Princess Cantacuzene Nee Julia Grant, as chairman of the committee on National defense.

The Princess, whose home is in Saratoga, Fla., is a grand daughter of General U. S. Grant.

Educate All

The fact that students more than 21 years of age have been discovered in the local high school puts a proposition squarely before the people of this city. How many adults who have leisure time due to lack of employment or to shortened working hours, would like to pursue some courses of study during the winter months? The public schools cannot take the responsibility of adult education at this time, because of lack of funds. But certainly there should be some way to supply this need, if it really exists.

Perhaps the schools could be used for night classes if the only expense were the necessary heat and light. The school equipment could be used with no additional cost. Teaching service would have to be voluntary, and there would have to be a fund for books and supplies.

One city has worked out a plan by which adults can obtain instruction at a cost of a nickel a night. That cost is not high and such a program should not be hard to finance. People interested in the work might subscribe enough to pay for those who could not afford the fee.

The plan should not be undertaken without a survey to show whether it would be worth while. However, there is a feeling that educational opportunities should be extended to adults, especially in view of the fact that so many now have leisure time they would be glad to devote to self improvement.

Refunding Loans

The government is now confronted with the problem of paying off or refunding the six-billion dollar fourth Liberty Loan, due next April 15. It is likely there will be no sudden action, as the extensive financial operations involved might endanger the recovery program.

The usual procedure is to call in the bonds and exchange them for new issues at a lower rate of interest. Any bondholder who objects is paid in cash. Sometimes the government pays no attention to the bonds and goes on paying interest. But if notice is given, interest stops and the bonds are called.

This would be an excellent opportunity to try out at least one scheme of inflation. The government might issue new money and pay off this loan in cash. There is sufficient security for the payment for a part of the loan in this way, and the rest could be outright inflation, for which there seems to be some considerable demand.

Silver and the increased gold reserve could be used as the basis for the new cash, and paying the bonds would put the money into immediate circulation. However, much of it would doubtless find its way back into government securities. The government might ascertain how much of the loan the people desired to take in bonds and make a refunding issue for that amount, paying all the rest in cash.

CATTLE BRING GOOD PRICES AT YARDS

Edward Lakamp, of Jacksonville, Illinois, was at the National Stock Yards Tuesday with a shipment of choice cattle. Mr. Lakamp sold through the Farmers Live Stock Commission Company and for 10 steers averaging 1,006 pounds received $6.25 per cwt., a figure but 10c under the extreme top of the day. These steers were of Mr. Lakamp's own feeding.

Gus Lakamp, of Chapin, Illinois, was also represented at the National Stock Yards Tuesday with three choice steers. Shipment was handled through the Farmers Live Stock Commission Company and the three steers averingng 1,243 pounds brought $6.25 per cwt.

SPEAKS AT CARLINVILLE

President C. P. McClelland, of MacMurray College, went to Carlinville Thursday to address the student body and faculty of Blackburn College at their morning chapel service and to conduct a forum at the college for the Macoupin County Ministerial Association.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Journal-Courier:

Beverly Hills, Calif., Oct. 12.—Various groups have arisen to sorter gnaw at the old Democratic party's heels. Now I don't want to cause undue worry at a time like this, but I do want to call your attention to another cloud in the sky. Since autumn weather has set in, and the leaves have begun to fall, you can see quite a few Republicans that have been hiding in the trees, a few more than last year.

On the banks of the Wabash the other day, Jim Watson climbed right out on a sycamore limb in plain view. (Brazenly mind you) and started chirping. I discovered Ambassador Edge out here yesterday traveling under his own name, (for the first time in a year). All this is not a good omen, and I think the uprising should be put down immediately. You know how ignorant people are to join some fed.

HARRY W. PETEFISH HAS SHEEP KILLED BY DOG

County Commissioner Harry W. Petefish reports that four sheep on his farm were slaughtered by dogs on the night of Sept. 20.

Tell me something..

what makes a cigarette taste better

WHAT makes anything taste better? It's what is in it that makes a thing taste better.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because we buy ripe tobaccos. These ripe tobaccos are aged two and a half years—thirty months. During this time the tobaccos improve—just like wine improves by ageing.

CHESTERFIELDS taste better because they have the right kind of home-grown tobaccos and Turkish Tobaccos "welded together."

We hope this answers your question.

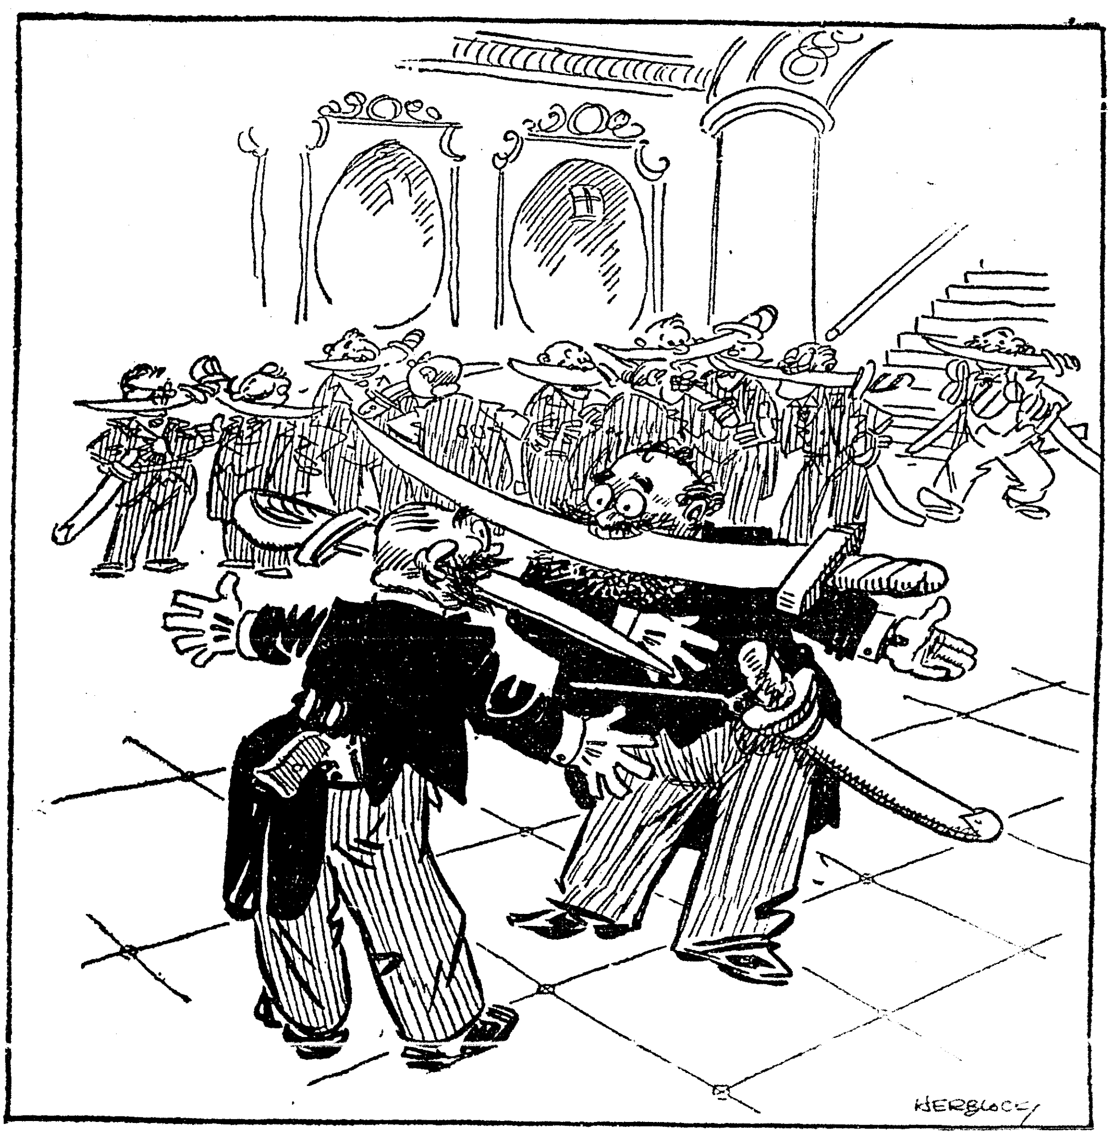
RESUMING THE DISARMAMENT DISCUSSION



CLAIM 15,100,000 PEOPLE ON RELIEF ROLLS OF NATION

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Harry L. Hopkins estimates 12 per cent of the population are on relief rolls.

In exact figures, the Federal Relief Administration puts the total at 15,100,000. His estimate embraces state, county, local and private rolls.

"Let no one think that we are not going to have a great many people depending on unemployment relief for their existence this winter, Hopkins said last night in giving these figures.

"The needy unemployed are going to be taken care of this winter. The federal government is not going to countenance relief on a standard so low that the needy unemployed are only a calory or two ahead of the grim reaper.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25¢ at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

DOWNSTATE WANTS LOCAL OPTION IN LIQUOR HANDLING

Springfield, Ill., Oct 12—(AP)—Local regulation was the plea of a majority of the representatives of downstate municipalities who appeared before the Illinois Liquor commission which is seeking to formulate a state control plan for submission to the general assembly

The commission held its second downstate meeting here last night. Mayor A. M. Jennings of Granite City asked for the return of "a pure and simple saloon." He suggested an open and segregated saloon at which only hard liquor will be available. He claimed the dispensary system would encourage bootlegging.

Mayor John W. Kapp Jr., Springfield, representing the Illinois Municipal League, asked for "a system under which liquor will be easily available under strong local regulation and taxes, with minors barred."

HONOR COLUMBUS DAY THROUGHOUT ENTIRE COUNTRY

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An ocean voyage made centuries ago was the inspiration for holiday observance in many parts of the nation today.

It was the journey on which Christopher Columbus, obscure Genoan seafarer, sailed his way into immortal fame as the discoverer of a new continent.

Today—the 441st anniversary of the discovery of America—was marked by celebrations and festivities principally by Italian societies honoring their worthy ancestor. Knights of Columbus also joined in the observance.

The day was a bank holiday in some states and financial markets in some of the larger trading centers were closed, including the New York Stock Exchange.

Alexander was represented here yesterday afternoon by Harry Kumle.

WHITE HALL H. S. ALUMNI PLAY TO BE GIVEN NOV. 7

White Hall, Oct. 12—Mrs. Lloyd Seely is chairman of the ticket committee for the play, "Fast Colors," which the White Hall alumni is putting on in the High school gymnasium, November 7, and has placed tickets with a number of out of town alumnus, including Anna Frances Chapman in Manchester, Frank Greer in Greenfield, Adelaide Denham Conlee in Roodhouse, County Clerk Guy Bridgewater in Carrollton, Edith Chapin, Abilee Roodhouse and Ethel Bradshaw in White Hall.

The alumni is giving a play at this time to earn money to entertain the alumni association next spring. It is the custom to give a banquet to the graduating class each year and to the faculty. The senior class this year is the largest in the history of the school and includes eighty-five members.

Grover Nash is president of the Alumni association.

Dies In Assumption

Relatives here received word Wednesday night of the death of Mrs. Stella Winters Young, who died at her home in Assumption, Wednesday morning. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in Assumption. She is survived by her husband one one son.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Davis, Mrs. Emma Speads and Mrs. Annie Edwards left Thursday morning for Chicago where they will spend several days at the fair.

Mrs. Perry Campbell of Roodhouse came down Wednesday to spend her birthday with her mother, Mrs. Nora Mason on East Bridgeport street.

Mrs. George Haverfield has been critically ill at her home north of the city, but is showing some slight improvement at present.

Miss Edith Baldwin of Chicago is here for a two weeks' visit with relatives and at her home on the farm south of the city. Her twin sister, Miss Edna Baldwin will come from St. Louis for the week end and they will close their farm home for the present. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Vermillion who have been keeping house for them will go to spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. Loren Fraser and family in the High street neighborhood. The Misse Baldwin are engaged in welfare work in Chicago and St. Louis respectively.

Will Attend Homecoming

W. W. Evans and daughter, Isabel, will go to Champaign Saturday to attend the Homecoming football game. They will stop over in Lincoln college and bring her here for a week end visit. Miss Eleanor Evans is a student in the State university in Urbana.

Mr. and Mrs. Vivan Bradshaw of Pontiac, Michigan, arrived Monday night for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bradshaw on West Franklin street.

Mrs. W. H. Allen is visiting in Kansas City and Excelsior Springs with her son and daughter, E. F. Allen and Mrs. H. D. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gano are moving from the Americus Seely apartment on West Brideport street to the Jarman apartment on East Bridgeport street.

Mrs. W. W. Evans and Mrs. Lloyd Seely drove to Monticello near Godfrey Wednesday afternoon to see Miss Maxine McKensie who is a student there

Lloyd Seely is announcing a special sale of three hundred head of calves, steers, heifers and yearlings at the Carrollton sales barn next Saturday. Mr. Seely conducts community sales each Tuesday in the Carrollton sales barn.

The G. B. M. 4-H club which includes a membership of boys and girls from the Gregory, Benear and Maple Grove school districts, has concluded their work for the club year except for a county meeting to be held this fall in the farm bureau office. Members of the club have taken a number of honors in various shows this year. Last Saturday Martin Williams, Manford McPherson, Don Allen and Myron Farnbaugh shipped their pigs to the Producers market at East St. Louise for the better prices paid there. Ruth and Vincent Shackelford and Vera Westerhold also accompanied the Greene county delegation which the farm adviser, R. H. Clahanan, took down that day for a club tour which included a visit to the packing hose, and Forest park.

His Amphibian Sped to World Record

Flying an all-metal Wright-motored monoplane of his own design, Alexander P. De Seversky, a veteran of the Russian Imperial Air Force, set a world's record for amphibian planes when he drove his powerful craft 177.79 miles an hour at the National Air Pageant in New York. De Seversky, who lost a leg in the World War, waves from the cockpit after his record feat.

BRAVERY MEDAL IS AWARDED TO THEO. L. CONKLIN

Jerseyville, Oct. 12—A Purple Heart medal has been awarded by the federal government through the navy department to Theodore L. Conklin of this city for military merit in action during the World war.

Conklin was a member of the United State marine corps. He enlisted in 1917 shortly after the United States entered the war, and left St. Louis June 14, 1917, for Paris Island, S. C. There he had ten weeks of intensive training. He was then transferred to Quantico, Va. Upon his arrival there, he was assigned to the 96th company, second battalion, regiment of marines.

After a training period of four months at this camp, the battalion was ordered to pack all equipment and sea bags in preparation for going overseas. On Jan. 19, 1918, the battalion boarded a train and later detrained at the navy yards in Philadelphia. They boarded the marine transport Henderson and on Feb. 5 landed at St. Nazaire, France.

Remaining in quarantine for two weeks, the battalion was finally loaded in box cars, forty men to a car and after a journey of two days, detrained at Nancy. There the battalion underwent five weeks' additional training.

On March 17, Conklin went into the trenches with the 6th regiment which formed a part of the Second division. For a period of forty-five days they remained in the Verdun and Toul sector. The great German offensive to capture Paris began and was proceeding to a point in close proximity to the French capital.

The Second division turned the point of the German offensive back at Bellau Wood, and it was in this fight that the marine corps won immortal position in the annals of history both American and international.

Conklin was seriously gassed during this battle. Out of 8,000 marines engaged in the combat, 6,000 were either killed or wounded. At one time Conklin's company had less than twenty men. The battle at Belleau Wood was different from the trench warfare that had prevailed up to the time of the offensive and was all open combat.

After the battle Conklin was taken to a hospital where he remained for a month. Upon his return to service, he participated in the American offensive in the St. Mihiel sector. In that battle he was hit by a machine gun bullet which passed through both legs at a point below the thigh joint. This wound placed him in the hospital for an additional five months.

The Purple Heart medal issued by the government corresponds to similar medals of military merit issued by other governments. The history of the medal dates back to the American revolution.

Th medal received by Conklin bears on its face the image of George Washington. On the ribbon attached to the medal is a cluster of oak leaves.

An additional bar containing a miniature oak leaf, a second unadorned blue bar and a lapel car complete the accessories of the award.

On the back of the medal is engraved: "For military merit—Theodore L. Conklin."

ESSAY CONTEST TO BE HELD BY K. OF C. ORDER

"Maryland, Land of Sanctuary," has been announced as the subject of the tenth annual essay contest to be sponsored by the Fourth degree, Knights of Columbus, in which all students of public, parochial and private high schools or academies of recognized standing are invited to compete. Awards of seventy-five, fifty and twenty-five dollars are to be offered to the prize winning essayists, respectively.

Judges of the contest will be Francis G. Blair, state superintendent of public instruction, and two assistants whom he shall select. Essays are to be sent to Will H. Hellhake, master of the central Illinois district of the Fourth degree, Knights of Columbus, in Springfield, Ill. Entries are to be postmarked not later than Feb. 22, 1934 (Washington's birthday).

In addition to the district awards, the winning contestants will be eligible to compete in the national contest, with prizes of five hundred, three hundred and two hundred dollars being offered the three best essays, respectively. The subject of the essay will be the same in all parts of the United States.

Speaking on behalf of the Fourth degree throughout the nation, John H. Reddin, supreme master, stated that "the purpose of this annual contest is to instill in the minds of the rising generation a love of American ideals, American principles, American institutions and American system of government. The fundamental concept behind this movement is the making of good and intelligent citizens out of all classes and creeds."

New King of the 'Kickers'

COMPLETE PLANS FOR EXHIBIT OF ETCHINGS HERE

Plans for a full program of art exhibits for the coming season have been formulated by the Jacksonville Art Association and have recently been announced by Miss Adelaide McCune, president of the organization. STATE MEETING OF A.T.A. WILL OPEN OCT. 18TH

Jerseyville, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The annual convention of the Anti-Thief Association will convene in Jerseyville Wednesday morning, Oct. 18, for a two day session.

The opening session will be held at the court house and the general public is invited to attend. An address of welcome to the delegates will be delivered by R. C. Chappell, president of the Jerseyville Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Theo Ryan for the business and professional women's organization of the city.

The morning session Wednesday will be called to order by the president of the Jersey county society, F. A. Downey. Prayer will then be offered by Rev. Harrold S. Farrill, pastor of the Jerseyville Presbyterian church.

The Pawnee quartet will then give a number and this will be followed by a talk delivered by Col. Joseph M. Page of Jerseyville. The welcome addresses of R. C. Chappell and Mrs. Theo Ryan then follow.

In response to the addresses of welcome will be made by Charles S. Black of Jacksonville, national president of the A.T.A., and by the state president of the organization, J. M. Long of Sherman. State Secretary Sidney M. Holben of Edinburg will then give a talk which will be followed by a secret session of the A.T.A.

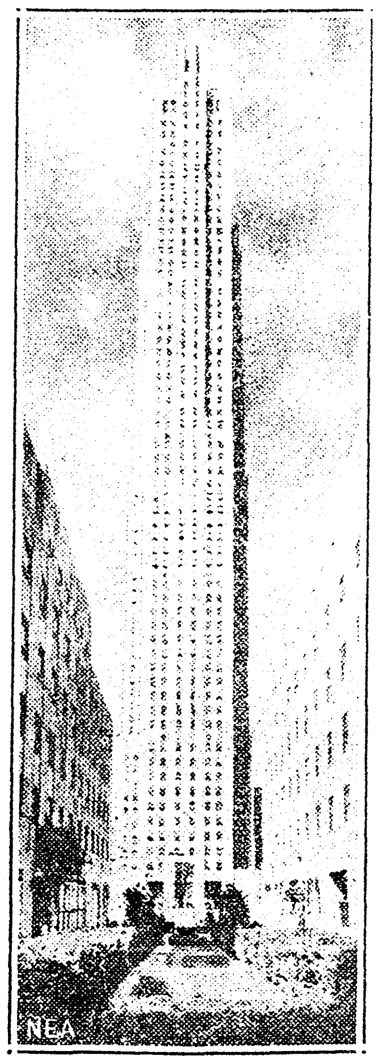
Wednesday afternoon the visiting delegates will be taken for a trip to view some of the interesting places of Jersey county. The delegates will leave the court house at 2:30 for a tour of Principia College campus at Elsah, Chautauqua and Grafton. Parties having cars to donate for use of delegates are requested to report to H. G. Neely. Parties having rooms for delegates for Wednesday night are requested to notify the Farm Bureau.

A banquet will be held at the Baptist church Wednesday evening and this will be open to the public. The toastmaster will be Joseph R. Fulkerson of Jerseyville.

Addresses will be given by L. H. Williams of Chicago, insurance director for the I.A.A.; Representative Hugh Green of the Forty-fifth district of Jacksonville, and Representative Hugh W. Cross of Jerseyville. The Pawnee quartet will furnish music.

The local county membership of the A.T.A. has been requested to bring all applications by Saturday, Oct. 14. The initiation of candidates will take place at 9:30 o'clock at the court house. The general business session and election will be held Thursday.

Largest Building Seen in New View



One of the few giant skyscrapers of uptown New York, the 70-story RCA Building, world's largest, with respect to floor space, is pictured in this striking photo from the newly completed Promenade between the British Empire Building and La Maison Francaise. The promenade, with its pool, fountain, yew hedges and white pine trees, gives a picturesque touch to the largest unit in Rockefeller Center.

BLACKBURN FUNERAL TO BE HELD AT EBENEZER

Services in memory of Miss Kate Blackburn, who devoted much of her life to missionary work in foreign fields, will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Ebenezer M. E. church, northwest of the city. Dr. J. R. Harker will officiate, assisted by Rev. W. M. Hailey, pastor of Ebenezer. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Alsey H. S. Notes

Alsey cagers broke even with the Patterson teams on Tuesday on the local court, losing the first team game 10-12, and winning the second team battle 16-21. Alsey will play Woodson at Woodson on October 10, and Hillview at Alsey on October 13.

Mr. Louis A. Yates, a history teacher at Holland, Mo., was a visitor here Tuesday afternoon.

Station FORUM will broadcast a program on October 20. Visitors are welcome.

All of the Alsey teachers attended Teachers' Institute at Winchester on Thursday and Friday.

Term examinations are being held this week.

Notebooks were due in English and Latin last week. Work showing special preparation in illustrative drawings, extra biographical material on authors, collections of clippings on literature, neatness, and organization was done by: Maxine Bates, Cordell Leitze, Allen Young, Dale Bradshaw, Helen Hepworth, Howard Blair, Dorothy McClery, Yueletta Gibbs, Chester Gourley, Bernadine Welsh, Doris Fundel, Stella Smith, Robert Blair, Doris Curtis, Dorothy Killebrew and Henriette McLaughlin.

Plans are being made for a High school Hallowe'en party on the night of Oct. 28th. The committee in charge are: Allen Young, Milo Curtis, and Agnes Day.

Alsey will present a community program on October 27th at 7:15 p. m. Admission will be 10 cents. Grade pupils will be admitted free. Those on the program committee are: Mrs. Helen Doyel, chairman, Ronald McGlasson, and Miss Marshall.

Pupils in the primary department who have a perfect attendance record for the month of September are: Bessie Lawson, Clara Louise Colvin, Doris Ingram, Francis Angle, Clifford Cody, Roger Woodall, Neta Coats, Nellie George, Lucille McLaughlin, Loreeta Franklin, Margaret Fry, Bobbie Bradshaw, Robert Lawson, Dean Walk, Colleen Smith, Kenneth Coats, Floyd Hepworth and Eugene Gray.

Eighteen students participated in the Good Speech Project in the High school. The ten most common mistakes, named in order of frequency, as found in the survey were "ain't," "these here," "them rules," "drawed," "freshmans," "them there," "can I (asking permission)," "wrote down (instead of written)," "haven't got," and "that there." The tabulation was made by Robert Blair, as a project in English I.

A DANDY DISH FOR COOLER DAYS!

Savory Pot Roast

Chop 1-4 pound of salt pork into bits. Roll the pieces in a mixture made of 1 teaspoon of salt, 1-8 teaspoon of pepper, 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley and 1 teaspoon dry mustard. With a sharp pointed knife cut gashes in a 5-pound rump roast of beef and insert the seasoned salt pork. Place in a bowl and roll the meat in 1-4 cup vinegar. Let stand 3 or 4 hours before cooking, turning the meat occasionally. In a Dutch oven cook until yellow 1 small chopped onion in 2 tablespoons of fat. Add the roast browning it well on all sides. Then add 4 medium size carrots, sliced; 2 turnips, quartered and 4 cups of cooked tomatoes. Cover tightly and simmer for 3 hours on top of stove or in a moderate oven.

A good recipe requires good ingredients. Make it a point to use QUALITY MEATS from DORWART'S when you try the recipe above. It will insure perfect satisfaction.

Word was received here recently that Mrs. Alex Purvine's condition is very serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reiser were shoppers in Jacksonville one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goacher, of Jacksonville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Thompson last Thursday evening.

Mrs. H. L. Robinson left last Friday for Chicago to visit the Century of Progress.

Puts the Jinx on Body Odor!

Science Says Good-Bye to Medicine-Smelling Soaps!

Science has made a new discovery about body odor. It is caused by stale perspiration curds, and requires deep-pore cleansing. It cannot be ended by ordinary soaps, because their sluggish lathers cannot reach into the pores and cleanse them. Instead the soap combines with the waste material and forms clogging curds!

Kirk's Coco Castile soap works in an entirely different way. No matter how hard the water, this 100% pure vegetable oil soap breaks instantly into a searching, bubbly lather. This bubbly lather cleans deep into the pores, actually removes the embedded stale perspiration curds — then rinses out completely, and in a flash. Thus it ends body odor at its source!

Delightful to use, Kirk's Coco Castile is entirely free from M. S. (medicine smell). And stimulating to the skin. A big generous cake, half again larger than the average toilet soap, and now at the lowest price in history! At this new reduced price, it is America's outstanding soap bargain. Be sure to ask for Kirk's Castile by name—at your grocer's.

Panama President Here for Conference

Miss Avanel Brickey has returned home after a ten days visit with friends in Kane.

Mr. and Mrs. Rube Akers of Fitchburg, Mass., have been guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Rawlins and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crist. They will return to their home Wednesday morning. George Perry, Mr. Akers half brother, from St. Louis, Mo., was up to see Mr. and Mrs. Akers Tuesday evening.

Oak Hill

Oak Hill, Oct. 10.—Mrs. Harriett Harney is spending some time at the home of her son, Charlie Harney and children.

The frost here last week did not seem to hurt anything very much.

Mr. George Ratliff was feeling some better last week, but at this writing he is not feeling so well as last week.

Mrs. Wm. H. Osborne, daughter Pauline, son Billie, were dinner guests of relatives here one day last week.

Mrs. Charlie Harney who has been poorly for some time is a patient at a hospital in Jacksonville since last week, having underwent a serious operation; she is getting along very well at this writing.

Joe Ozbun is spending a few days with relatives in Kane.

Charlie Harney, two children, and his mother, were recent callers at the George Ratliff home.

Sunday here was a cold, rainy, disagreeable day; seemed as if winter was not far off and reminded people that the fire in the heating stove did not come amiss.

Charlie S. Osborne and family were Tuesday afternoon callers at the home of his parents, J. T. Osborne, wife and daughter.

WORRIED

That upset 0-0 tie that the Kansas Jayhawkers pulled on Notre Dame, had Hunk Anderson plenty worried. The Ramblers, figured to be the best team Anderson has handled, could get nowhere against the Big Six team. Hunk sat on the sidelines and sprouted gray hairs as each Irish threat failed.

There is one and only one D-X. It was the first motor fuel marketed in the Middle West which provided upper cylinder lubrication. Imitations have been attempted, but none can match D-X performance because D-X alone is made by the patented "X" process. And, now, in the new "Fall-Grade" D-X, further improvements have been made. "Fall-Grade" D-X is specially made for use in fall weather. It provides anti-knock performance and gives instant starting on the cold mornings without sacrificing power or mileage and without danger of "gas-lock" on the warm days. For perfect performance at this season of the year, use "Fall-Grade" D-X. Now at all Diamond stations.

The TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN PICTURES by JOE KING

The man the Tinymites had met said, "Now, tots, there's no need to fret. Just tell me what the trouble is. I'll see what I can do.

"Although I'm just a fisherman, I'll gladly help you, if I can. I'll bet that everything will be all right when we are through."

Then Scouty told how Duncy had dropped out of sight. "Well, that's too bad," the man replied. "But I know where we'll find the little lad.

"It isn't very far from here, and there is not a thing to fear. You'll be surprised to find out what a good time he has had."

"Let's go right now," said Goldy. "Gee, I'm curious as I can be." "Oh, no, there is no hurry," said the man. "I want to eat.

"You see, I've caught a lot of fish and they will make a tasty dish. Say, if you tots are hungry, you can join me in the treat."

The Tinymites agreed to this. "It's something that we wouldn't miss," said Windy. "Let's have sandwiches. With fish, they taste just great."

"All right! You all shall have your fill. We'll cook them on my little grill," the man replied. "I am so hungry, I can hardly wait."

Soon Dotty shouted, "Look at that! The fish are crackling in hot fat. I'll cut some bread so it will be all ready when they're done."

"I'll help you," Goldy loudly cried. And shortly, they both ran inside the fisherman's old cabin. Dotty said, "Gee, this is fun!"

At last the sandwiches were made. The old man then said, "I'm afraid you Tinies will eat too much because they taste so good.

"Just satisfy your appetite. Then stop, and you will be all right. 'Twill only make you feel bad, if you eat more than you should."

PLAN PROGRAM TO REFINANCE BONDS

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Treasury financing of a $2,000,000,000 scale today was the administration program for raising ready cash and refunding $1,875,000,000 of the fourth Liberty loan issue.

A new issue of 12 year bonds, paying 4¼ per cent the first year and 3¼ thereafter, provided the means of accomplishing the two double purpose of the operation.

The exact amount of the issue was undetermined, but $50,000,000 worth will be sold for cash at 101½. Subscriptions open Monday.

Other portions of the bonds will be exchanged for Fourth Liberty bonds, which aggregate $6,268,094,150 and bear 4¼ per cent interest. Treasury officials expected only holders of the $1,875,000,000 called bonds to take advantage of the exchange.

Secretary Woodin said the $50,000,000 sale would provide cash for current needs, and the refunding would "affect a material reduction in the annual interest charge on the public debt."

BICYCLE BANDIT HAS MADE ITS APPEARANCE

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The bicycle robber has made his appearance.

Mrs. E. M. McFarland of Suburban Oak Park reported to police that a blue shirted youth pedaled up to her, got off his bicycle, thrust a pistol at her, took $2 and then pedaled away.

Among the Murrayville callers in Jacksonville Thursday was Mrs. Frank Veder.

Mrs. Hubert Boes of Winchester was shopping in the city yesterday.

KIWANIS CLUB IS ADDRESSED HERE BY FIRE MARSHAL

Fire prevention week was observed by the Jacksonville Kiwanis club at its Thursday meeting and the club members were entertained by a program of unusual music by MacMurray College. Sherman V. Coultas, state fire marshal, addressed the club members on fire prevention and Miss Willamary Aszmann of East St. Louis, with Miss Mahala McGeHee as accompanist, gave a number of musical selections on the theremin, a musical instrument played through sound waves.

Miss Aszmann explained that the theremin was invented by a Russian scientist, Leon Theremin. It is electrically built and resembles a radio in that it has tubes and a speaker. Tones are produced through the waving of hands near the antenna of the theremin. Miss Aszmann played "The Indian Love Call", "Roses of Piccardy", and "My Wonderful One."

Mr. Coultas in speaking of fire prevention said the observance grew out of the great Chicago fire, and it is now being observed throughout the nation. Fire prevention activities have received a setback, said the speaker, due to the depression. People do not now have sufficient funds to keep up their buildings like they should.

The average actual loss from fire in the nation during the past ten years has been approximately $500,000,000 yearly. This loss coupled with the loss through unemployment caused by fires will bring the fire bill to more than a billion dollars a year. The loss in the state of Illinois for the past fiscal year was $13,500,000, a decrease in money values of 16 per cent over the year before. However, these figures were based on the present depreciated values and probably are no lower actually than in former years.

Old time firemen were prone to play cards while waiting for a fire, said the speaker, but the modern fireman makes periodical inspections looking for fire hazards to prevent conflagrations. The Jacksonville department is doing valuable inspection work, asserted Mr. Coultas. He urged that local owners of buildings cooperate with the department in its program of removing fire hazards.

BLAME CHURCH IN PART FOR TODAY'S GANGDOM, RACKETS

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Rev. George A. Campbell of St. Louis says the church is partly "responsible for gangsters and racketeers" because it no longer is commanding the cities."

Addressing an evangelistic association meeting at the opening of the five-day international convention of the Disciples of Christ, Mr. Campbell, the convention president, asserted that "most of the criminals come from sections from which the church has retreated."

He told the vanguard of 5,000 delegates last night that more intensive church activity is essential in the cities if society is to be saved.

"Modernistic tendencies" of ministers in the large cities brought censure from the Rev. George W. Knepper of Akron, O., who termed modernism "the most consummate failure in the world."

"Religion has become professionalized in the big city church," Mr. Knepper asserted.

With business sessions opening today, delegates awaited a committee report on the controversial proposal to make the convention a legislative rather than an advisory body.

As now constituted, the convention has no authority over the individual churches in the denomination of 1,700,000 members.

SAYS RUMORS BASELESS

London, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Spiked as "baseless rumors" today were published reports of mutiny aboard the H.M.S. Hood—world's largest battle cruiser.

The admiralty in an official statement said:

"Their lordships desire to state these rumors are entire fabrications. They greatly regret they should be forced to make this denial of a baseless rumor reflecting on the splendid ship's company."

Literberry shoppers in the local community Thursday included Mrs. Harry Petefish.

rushees at the home of Miss Elizabeth Capps on West State street at 6:30 Wednesday morning.

Favors given at the breakfast were boxes of animal crackers.

Phi Nu

The Phi Nu society of MacMurray College entertained their rushees at a dance which was held at the Jacksonville Country club Wednesday night. This was the second party since the eligible girls received their rush books Monday evening. Approximately forty-two girls were present at the dance last night. Music was furnished by Clemons Dirksen and his Rhythm Ramblers with dancing beginning at 8 o'clock and lasting until 11:30.

Decorations carried the same scheme as had been planned for the first party with the song hit "Who's Afraid of the Big, Bad Wolf" as the theme. This time the house of sticks formed the center of attraction with the molds of ice cream portraying the pigs further completing the idea.

As a dance favor each rushee was presented with a compact made of wood.

For those who did not care to dance ping-pong, bridge, and other games had been provided.

Miss Nadean Hollman was the general chairman for the dance and was assisted by the Misses Erna Emig Jane Addams, and Marge Mahew. Alumnae members of the society were also present.

Theta Sigma

A "Tugboat Annie" breakfast was held at 6:45 Thursday morning at the Peacock Inn by the members of Theta Sigma society. Thirty-one member and guests were present. Natalie Hunter and Martha Hall were chairmen of the affair.

An "Animal Kingdom" tea was held at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon by Theta Sigma society. There were thirty-three members and rushees present Miss Alexander presided at the tea table, and initialed handkerchiefs were given as souvenirs.

Lambda Alpha Mu

The Lambda Alpha Mu rush parties began Wednesday morning. Miss Virginia Browning of Benton is rush captain and she with various committees working under her will have charge of all the parties. The theme of the entire rushing program will carry out the prenuptial and postnuptial parties fo "I'ma Lambda" and "Ura Rushee."

The first of the series of parties was the "Announcement Breakfast" on Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Rose Ranson, honorary member of the society. The old fashioned hayrack ride, the informal breakfast in a rustic barn loft, and the animal favors made the party very novel. Miss Virginia Cameron was in charge of the affair.

The second party given by the Lambda Alpha Mu society was the traditional "Lavender and Old Lace" formal held Wednesday night at the Colonial Inn. This annual picture party carried out the nuptial ceremony of "I'ma Lambda" and "Ura Rushee" after which the entire company of guests enjoyed a wedding dinner dance before the bride and groom sped away. The wedding cake with its traditional ring, penny, thimble, and dime, the corsage and favors carried out the theme of the program. Eleanor Alkire of Petersburg was in charge.

N. J. FEDERGREEN PLANT PICKETED AS POLICE GUARD

Police were on duty Thursday at the plant of the N. J. Federgreen Clothing Co., on West Lafayette avenue, while about 75 persons quietly picketed the factory as the employes went to work. There was no disturbance. The pickets did not group but walked up and down the block occasionally talking to workers who came to their jobs at the factory.

The picketing was done by clothing union members and sympathizers who said that some of the former employes of the closed Capps factory had gone to work for Federgreen tho they had been signed up by the union.

Police were sent to the factory by Mayor W. A. Wainright who stated Thursday that he learned Wednesday night that the place was to be picketed. The Mayor gave out the following statement:

"I have no quarrel with the unions; but I am of the opinion that every man should have a right to work. All citizens of Jacksonville who want to work are going to have that right protected. We cannot stop peaceful picketing; but we do not intend that workers who are going to and from their jobs shall be molested in their duties."

The N. J. Federgreen Clothing Co. has been established here three years. The firm is engaged in making clothing to measure. Previous to the closing of the Capps plant some of the Federgreen work was done there. Then the work was taken over by the Prosterman-Spiesberger Clothing Co. but union protest caused the Federgreen company to decide to manufacture its clothing thru all the processes, it was said yesterday.

The firm purchased more cloth and increased its force by about 25 workers. The union members claim that some of the Capps workers who had signed with the union went to work for Federgreen, hence the picketing. It is reported that the pickets did not interfere with the workers but only talked to them. All Federgreen employes, except one, went to their jobs Thursday it is claimed.

The Federgreen plant is working under the NRA, it is said. Mayor Wainright said Thursday that as long as factories are working in accordance with NRA codes, their workers have a right to protection for themselves and their jobs.

27 AMERICANS ARE ATTACKED BY GERMANS

bury, Conn., connected with the Long Island Medical College, would be tried.

Dr. Mulvihill was assaulted last August 17, like most of the others because he did not salute a parade in Nazi fashion—an upraised arm.

The American affidavits set out that all but seven of them involved the actions of the brown shirted Nazi storm troopers.

The latest case to come under the view of the American authorities was that of Roland Velz, who has lived in Germany several years, who charged he was struck in the face Tuesday at Dusseldorf when he did not salute as a parade went by.

Meanwhile, a foreign office spokesman said, "we are doing all possible to hasten the prosecution of cases," in explaining that a staff member who had charge of the American section of the office has been sick.

This statement followed one by Ambassador Dodd which said:

"The Embassy of its own accord last Thursday addressed a formal note to the foreign office along the same lines as indicated by secretary, but all these days have elapsed and no reply has been received."

EDWARD F. DUNNE 80 YEARS OLD

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—Former Governor, former Mayor and former Judge Edward F. Dunne became an octogenarian today.

He was guest of honor at his eightieth birthday party at the University club, attended by political associates from many parts of the state.

Governor Dunne's term in the executive mansion at Springfield began in 1913.

Among those at the dinner were Senator Richard J. Barr, republican leader in the upper house of the general assembly when Dunne was governor and David E. Shanahan, republican leader in the lower house at the time.

Woodson was represented here yesterday by Miss Anna Riley.

WILLIAM GREEN IS RE-ELECTED BY LABOR BODY

That was a basic point for which Green had fought during the entire convention. He said that labor should agree to cooperate before starting any campaign that might be harmful.

Largely at his request, the resolutions committee report on the $3,300,000,000 public works program rejected stronger criticism and said simply:

"Every effort should be made to develop this program on a sound basis as quickly as possible. Your committee desires to point out that in this respect much depends upon the officers of state and local governments."

The convention, however, demanded restoration of government employes' salaries to the same levels as before the economy act; asked that labor be given the chance to originate Recovery codes; protested interpretations of the collective bargaining clause of the Recovery Act; insisted upon equal labor-industry representation on all NRA boards, local or national; requested that Congress be asked to appropriate more relief funds this winter; repeated its opposition to relaxation of immigration laws and asked more strict enforcement of these at border ports of entry.

DEFEAT BOND ISSUE

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Harrisburg voters today desively rejected a proposal for issuance of $400,000 of revenue certificates to finance a municipal electric light plant.

Returns from five of the eight precincts were: Against the certificate issue, 1,217; for, 66.

Returns from the three missing precincts were not expected to change the ratio of voting appreciably.

Time—8 p. m.
Place—Illinois College field.

FOLO SPALDING— ... .

Routt high's Roaring Rockets, still undefeated in 15 straight games, will risk their record again tonight on the Illinois College field in their homecoming battle with Peoria Spalding, another of the tough opponents on their schedule this year. Routt's string of victories, covering the last two seasons of play and beginning again this year will be in the greatest danger it has been since the Rockets began booting footballs around the lot this year.

The opening event of a big homecoming, the football game, promises to have plenty of color. The American Legion fife and drum corps will lead the two contesting teams onto the field at 7:30, and the American Legion band from the Jacksonville State Hospital will swing onto the field just before the initial kick-off. Fireworks will be exploded if and when Routt scores touchdowns.

Rested by the holiday declared last night, the Rockets are ready for their homecoming game with regulars in all positions except one. Vincent Lonergan, regular center, who was injured in the Feitshans game, will be out of the line-up, but in his place will be August Weidlocher, a 172 pound youngster who has been learning his football on the second string.

With regulars in the positions, the Rockets are ready for anything that Spalding may toss at them. The Rockets last year upset Spalding 26-0, but that was before Spalding learned the real power of the local club. Now that Spalding is acquainted with Routt tactics and plays, the local club may expect tougher opposition. Routt has been registering victories both in basketball and football over the Peoria club, but how long this will continue remains to be seen.

Routt will average about 161 pounds, while the Peorians probably will have about four pounds per man over the home team. The weight advantage is not enough to make any difference, leaving the outcome of the game strictly up to the play of the respective elevens.

Advices from Spalding are that Coach John Noppenberger will bring at least three teams here for the game. Bud Best, regular end, who was injured last week probably will be unable to get in the game, but he has been listed in the starting lineup by the coach. Players who have been playing varsity ball for more than this season are scattered thruout the line-up, with Hecht, Moore, Atkins, Gorman and Best among them. Hecht is a 180 pound tackle, and Rossi, the other tackle, weighs about 175 pounds. Kelch, the left halfback, weighs 182 pounds.

Spalding uses the Notre Dame style of offense, with Atkins, a speedy quarterback, and Johnson and Kelch doing a large part of the ball carrying. Jack McLinden, fullback, plunges the line and tosses the passes.

Coach Wallace Baptist is expecting one of the toughest games his team has had this season. The team itself appeared to be keyed up for the battle last night when they were dismissed from further work until tonight.

FOOTBALL CAMPS

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 12—(AP)—Varsity backs gained almost at will today as they went through their first offensive drill of the week against the freshmen, who had some success with Wisconsin pass plays but couldn't penetrate the first string Illini line. Waller and Frink alternated in Frink's end position but Frink was a likely choice to play Saturday against the Badgers.

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 12—(AP)—The first team backfield romped through a freshman line for long gains today as the University of Iowa football team continued heavy workouts in preparation for the Wisconsin game Oct. 21. Only one more scrimmage is on the schedule for the week, with both varsity and reserves to receive a layoff Saturday while coach Ossie Solem scouts the Badger—Illini game.

Minneapolis, Oct. 12—(AP)—Acknowledging the threat of the Pardonner-Purvis-Hecker-Carter combination, the Minnesota football team today worked to set up a defense against Purdue's attack here Saturday. Heretofore this week practically all the time has been used polishing Minnesota's own offense. It appeared certain today that Julius Alfonse will start at right half instead of Roscoe.

Evanston, Ill., Oct. 12—(AP)—Northwestern, with a revamped backfield, looked considerably improved today as coach Dick Hanley tapered off the defense for the battle against Stanford Saturday. The offense also clicked and coach Hanley was encouraged although he said he expected a defeat by the invading Red Skins. Northwestern's back field will consist of Olson, quarterback; Duval, fullback, and Leeper and Cruice at the halfback posts.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 12—(AP)—Today's scrimmage, the last before its Big Ten opener with Illinois, found Wisconsin getting gratifying results from its pass plays. Playing against the reserves the regulars completed a high percentage of their aerial thrusts which were of several varieties. It was the first practice session of the week to be devoted exclusively to offense. Coach Spears previously has been concerned mainly with perfecting a defense against Illinois plays.

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—Coach Clark Shanghnessy let his Chicago varsity off with a short workout today and ordered the squad, 33 strong, to entrain for St. Louis at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow for the Washington University game. Rainwater Wells probably will kick off instead of Jay Berwanger, whose boots were too erratic to satisfy Coach Shanghnessy last week.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 12—(AP)—Purdue's football squad, 35 strong, entrained tonight for Minneapolis and the opening of its Big Ten schedule against Minnesota Saturday. Offensive and defensive plans were gone over in a dummy scrimmage before departure. Purvis working on his punting and Pardonner practiced drop kicking.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12—(AP)—Otto Kuss, 215-pound tackle from Pine City, Minn., held the fullback post vacated by the injured Wendel Walker today as Indiana's football squad polished its aerial attack in preparation for the Notre Dame contest. Leach, reserve back, was prominent in the throwing role, along with Huffman and Sabik.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12—(AP)—The Michigan varsity showed plenty of driving power this afternoon when coach Harry Kipke sent it against the freshmen. The first string eleven employed running plays obviously designed for use against the invading Cornell team Saturday, and clicked well enough to indicate that the Wolverines will be near a fighting edge for the intersectional clash.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A "dummy" scrimmage without tackling today and a light practice tomorrow will conclude Ohio State University's grid preparations for Vanderbilt Saturday. Frankie Fisch, a passing expert will start in the backfield in place of Dick Heekin.

DOESN'T WORRY ABOUT ALUMNI

By W. N. Paxton,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

St. Louis, Oct. 12. — (AP)—Gwinn Henry, the sun-tanned Texan with the drawl, whose football teams at Missouri University and the College of Emporia achieved a high average of victories, isn't worrying about the alumni "wolves" any more.

Henry, who was released at Missouri two years ago, is coaching the St. Louis Gunners, a professional team, and exhibits the same enthusiasm over the achievements of his "boys" as he did in past years in the locker rooms of college gymnasiums.

"I liked college coaching, but I also like professional work," he explained. "It's nice not to have to contend with the criticisms and complaints of disgruntled alumni.

"Fans are fans the country over, though. Campus politics doesn't enter into my present work, but you'd be surprised at the number of letters I receive from advisors who think this or that man isn't getting a fair break."

As he spoke a squad of massive youths at Gunners' headquarters struggled into the harness of their trade. Trainers rubbed and poked at ailing muscles. The odor of rubbing alcohol and sweaty woolen clothing is the same in city gymnasium as on college campus.

"Contrary to some public opinion professional football players are not plug uglies or toughs," Henry explained as his eyes swept over the assembled owners of bulging muscles and barrel-like chests.

"Fifteen out of the eighteen players on our squad have college degrees. They're not just big and dumb or they wouldn't have the degrees.

"They play because they like the game. One or two don't like to block, but I never saw a harder playing bunch of boys. They play to win and just before game time they are fully as nervous as any college squad you ever saw."

The Gunners are fairly representative of the professional teams now found in most parts of the country. The eighteen regulars represent 16 different colleges. Although playing an independent schedule, the Gunners are to meet several National League clubs.

"Professional coaching is easier in that experienced players soon learn plays and are better grounded in fundamentals," the coach continued. "But the competition is just about the same.

"Trick plays have their place as does the aerial offense."

Then the coach turned away.

"All right men," he shouted to the assembled giants, "Let's be on our way."

And 3,600 pounds of college educated brawn all but shook the building as the Gunners trotted outside to begin their second practice of the day.

EARL PORTER WINS ANOTHER TRIPLE

By Orlo Robertson

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Dominating racing on the metropolitan turf for the third straight day, Earl Porter, 16-year old Geneva, Ill., apprentice today scored his third straight riding triple and his fourth of the Jamaica meeting to boost his total number of winners for the last ten days to 14.

Three races were run before Porter, who led all jockeys at Rockingham Park with 40 winners, got started. Then in succession he won with Gold Step, Quickstep and Flying Dragon.

True to the majority of Porter's mounts, the three winners were well played. Gold Step paid 16 to 5, Quickstep 3 to 2, and Flying Dragon 2 to 1.

Gold Step, one of the prospective opponents for the Australian invader, Winooka, reeled off the fastest six furlongs of the meeting, 1:11 3-5, to account for his fourth straight victory. One of them was scored at Rockingham, where the Illinois apprentice guided the six year old gelding to a track record of 1:15 1-5 for the three quarters of mile.

At the finish today he was only a nose in front of Quel Jec, recently beaten by the same margin by Gold Step. A length back followed Frederick.

Sun Abbot, drove to a clean cut victory in the six furlog top event at Laurel, finishing a half length in advance of Believer. Holystone, was third, a like distance to the rear. As the third choice, Sun Abbot paid $12 for $2.

Teralice, consistent three year old racing for Abraham Bartelstein of Chicago, was first home in the seven furlongs of the Columbus Day purse at Washington Park. With Melvin Lewis in the saddle the colt ran the distance in 1:24 2-5, one fifth second short of the track record, to beat the Shandonsfarm's Evergold. J. P. Ebelhardt's Gift of Roses and three others.

ENTIRE FOOTBALL TEAM MAY QUIT

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Texas Christian University may be without a football team within a few days.

With suspension for alleged hazing threatened some members, virtually the entire varsity squad has declared it will strike if any are disciplined.

"If any of us get kicked out on account of this all of us will go," declared Jack Graves, captain of the varsity.

Eighteen members were called before the university discipline committee yesterday after it was discovered that on Tuesday night the hair had been clipped from the heads of several freshmen.

The committee was still considering evidence this afternoon.

Hair clipping is considered hazing at T. C. U. and there is a strict rule against that.

SHERIFF RETURNS WITH PRISONERS

Kansas City, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Sheriff Dennis Taylor of Shelby county left today with three men in custody who are wanted in connection with the robbery of a Hunnewell, Mo., store a week ago.

The three are John Hess, 24, and Floyd M. Edwards, 30, arrested earlier this week at Maple Park, and John Shockey, 32, arrested today. Taylor said Shockey admitted hauling merchandise from Hunnewell to Maple Park for which he was paid $20 but denied knowledge of a store robbery or that the merchandise he hauled was stolen property.

Herman Boardman is held here as the accused receiver of stolen goods.

Taylor quoted Shockey as saying he was employed by Edwards and that the goods was loaded on the truck in Hunnewell at night. Three women also were questioned by officers in connection with the Maple Park angle of the case.

HORNIMAN MUSEUM IS LOOTED, CLAIM

London, Oct 12—(AP)—Scotland Yard was called in today to solve the mystery of a robbery in the Horniman Museum in South London, where the thieves, who entered as ordinary visitors, made a haul of ancient gold trinkets, nuggets and rings, some of which were 2,000 years old.

The thieves escaped through a temporary partition into a new wing under construction after smashing the glass cases and ransacking them.

The intrinsic value of the loot was stated not to be great, but as antiquest the objects were valuable.

Bowen High of Chicago to Play Tigers Here October 20

Bowen high, of Chicago, rated among the strongest teams in the city league, will play Illinois School for the Deaf under the Illinois College lights Friday, October 20, Coach S. Robey Burns announced last night as he packed his grips to take his Tigers to Wisconsin School for the Deaf for the annual battle with the Badger Silents. Arrangements were completed yesterday with Illinois College for the use of their field, and with the Chicago team for the game.

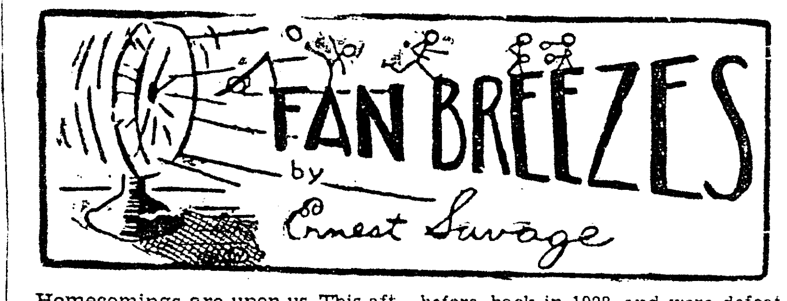
The Bowen tilt, which is expected to surpass the Lane Tech game of two years ago here, when the Tigers won 26-12 after leaving the field at the end of the first half trailing 12-0, was arranged to fill a place left vacant when Schirz high was unable to come here because of an arrangement made by the Chicago high school league. The game with Schirz was postponed until next year.

The Tiger coach was elated with the arrangements which will bring the Chicago team here, although he was skeptical about the chances of his Tigers to come through to another victory over a Chicago team. The Tigers lost 26-0 to Schirz in Chicago last year.

In the meantime the Tigers, undefeated in three starts this year, have their game with Wisconsin, Saturday, to think about. The Badger silents are staging their homecoming game Saturday, and this fact is enough to keep up their team to a new high efficiency. Such stars as Boldt, Penella, and Sharer, who have been playing with the Wisconsin team for a number of years, will be trying to come through with a win for the first time over the Tigers, after twice holding them to scoreless ties, and losing three games. The Tigers beat Wisconsin here last year 13-0.

Completely rested after enjoying an open date last week, the Tigers are in first class shape for the game. Capt. Leo Suiter, Riha, Beard and Oriono, will be the starting backfield in the Wisconsin game, with Gordon, Adams, ends, Hartz and Mirus, tackles, Karol and Stogis, guards, and Garland center.

Harley Cox and Conopeotis, reserve backs, and Wildrich, Goldsand, Thurman, Sanders and Sering, reserve linemen, will accompany the team to Delevan. The game will be called at three o'clock Saturday afternoon.



FAN BREEZES

by Ernest Savage

Homecomings are upon us. This afternoon—tonight—tomorrow— the old grads will be here.

—o—

Among the homecomers at Illinois College this year is Floyd Newkirk, the Blueboy baseballpitcher who is going up to the big show next year. Newkirk arrived in the city yesterday, and plans to remain here until Sunday, when he will depart for Norris City to do some hunting.

—o—

Newkirk, as big as ever, and apparently as healthy as can be, told us that he appreciated the interest Jacksonville ball fans are taking in his work. He said he had a great summer, winding up the season with an unfinished streak of 20 scoreless innings.

—o—

He spent the day yesterday after arriving here receiving congratulations. He says he's learned a lot about baseball in past few years, and that there is a lot more to learn. He's tickled to death with his chance to get into the major leagues and declares he's going to stick.

—o—

Newkirk has spent the past three weeks with his parents on a motor trip through Missouri, Arkansas and other southern states. The hunting he plans to do this fall is mostly to keep his legs in condition and not for meat. Newkirk says he doesn't have the control over a shotgun he has over a baseball.

—o—

Amos Gerlach, another former Blueboy, rolled into the city yesterday to prepare for the homecoming activities. Gerlach was a guard on the Illinois football team a few years ago.

—o—

Charles "Bud" Colin, captain of last year's Illinois College football team, is coaching Neoga this year, we learned last night. Colin was hired just last week and went to work last Monday. He will coach basketball and track as well as teach history.

—o—

Coach Robey Burns came through again. He has booked the Bowen high team for next Friday night for a football game under the Illinois College lights. The game should be a sell-out, if the fans remember what happened when Lane Tech came down here for the charity game, and went home on the short end of the score 26-12.

—o—

Burns doesn't believe in picking off set-ups for his boys when he goes in for a big show. That's why he tried to get Bowen, which he says has a better team than Schirz, when Schirz officials notified him that they would be unable to keep the date temporarily scheduled last fall when the Tigers went to Chicago.

—o—

The Tigers played Bowen high once before, back in 1928, and were defeateded 12-0 at Soldier's Stadium. Burns has been trying to get Bowen to come down here ever since, and he hopes he'll have a warm reception for them. Schirz has postponed its game with the Tigers until 1934, when they hope to come down here for the game.

—o—

It'll be a big week for football again next week. But we'll come to that in due time.

—o—

Right now the whitewash season is on, and we'd like to tell all of the peculiar things we have heard regarding the whitewash feud which flared up between the Crimsons and Rockets the other night, but we fear the facts have been exaggerated in the telling.

—o—

Suffice it to say that there has been some whitewash scrubbing going on hereabouts. The Crimsons tried to get the jump on the Routt whitewash brigade by doing their painting Wednesday night. Just what the Routt brush wielders will do to the Crimson signs we haven't been able to find out yet. J. H. S. got a lot of corners fixed up, anyway.

—o—

We feel sure that the city fathers will have no objection to this expression of student enthusiasm as long as the students keep in bounds. By in bounds we mean using whitewash only and painting on the asphalt and brick paving only.

—o—

Illinois School for the Deaf will have its homecoming Nov. 11, but they are getting a kick out of the fact that they are playing in a homecoming game at Wisconsin this Saturday. It has been pointed out that Wisconsin U. is playing the U. of I. this Saturday at Champaign in a homecoming game, and that I. S. D. is playing at Wisconsin S. D. in another homecoming game.

—o—

Illinois College looked a lot better last night in their final work out for the homecoming game with Monmouth. The first team line was unable to do much with the second team line for awhile and then suddenly began clicking. Maybe their offense is about to get adjusted to playing conditions.

HOLE IN ONE

Grand Island, Neb. Oct. 12.—(AP)—Elmer Gutzmer playing the No. 8 hole today on the Woodland course, made a 105 yard tee shot which struck the pin and fell directly into the cup for a hole in one. Playing with him were H. Lindeman of Grand Island and Louis R. Burnett of St. Joseph.

SCOT LINE WILL BE LIGHT AGAIN

Pin All-Star Hopes On Bobby Woll, 5 Foot 5 Inch Quarterback—Line Averages 168 Pounds and Backfield 159 Pounds.

Monmouth, Ill. Oct 12—(Special)—The Fighting Scots of Monmouth College hope to be at full strength when they meet Illinois College at Jacksonville in the first conference encounter in their Little 19 schedule. Although Coe defeated Monmouth last Saturday in a Midwest conference game the Scots are merely charging the game up to experience.

As has been the case for the past few years the Monmouth team is light in weight. The team started in the three games played so far have averaged only 166 pounds in the line and 158 in the backfield. Bobby Woll, senior quarterback and star of the Monmouth eleven weighs only 129 pounds and stands just five feet four inches tall. Small stature does not seem to affect his ability as an athlete. He can show his heels to the best of his opponents and once across the line of scrimmage he is hard to stop. The "Little Giant" is Monmouth's candidate for all star honors this year.

Whether the Monmouth defense will be able to stop the hard driving Illinois backs is a question that only the game itself can answer. Monmouth Freshman using Illinois plays have made the varsity look bad on several occasions but there is still time to brush up on those formations. Against the Illinois team Monmouth is expected to use the type of play that Coach Hart has used for many years. With dependence on the field general to call the play and meet the defense offered the smaller Scots must plan to execute their plays nearly to perfection to bring their ball carriers into the open.

Coach Hart is expected to start the same team that has been used at the beginning of all three games so far. Nearly every member of the squad is expected to see action for the squad is small and to advance the team must have experience in actual games.

BLUEBOYS READY FOR HOMECOMING

Scrimmage Winds Up Hard Drill for Monmouth Here Saturday—Will Look at Defensive Formations and Scot Plays Today

Getting the homecoming spirit, the Illinois College Blueboys went through their entire repertoire of plays last night in scrimmage against the second string, and wound up their strenuous work in treparation for their all-important game with Monmouth college here Saturday afternoon which will determine whether the Blueboys will remain on top of the Little 19 heap.

Returning to the hustle and bustle which marked their preparations for last week's game with Western Teachers, the Blueboy varsity battled the second string in an effort to make plays work, failed for a time and suddenly began clicking for good gains. Going through a maze of formations from which running plays and passes develop, they battled away for an hour and then went back to the dressing room.

Tonight the teams will look over the Monmouth plays carefully and will study Monmouth's defensive setup intensively. There will be little muscle labor tonight, but plenty of mental work.

The squad appeared to be in about the same physical condition this week as they were last week. Only Ford and Hubert Pearce of the injured have returned to the fold.

The Blueboy line-up probably will be Longworth and Colin at ends, Feduris and Barrenfanger, tackles, Speuhr and Munger, guards, Davis or R. Miller, center, DiCenso, Sweney or Woods, Pacotti and Captain Don Miller in the backfield. Munger was promoted to the first team last night after reporting for the squad Monday night.

BOSTON COLLEGE WALLOPS CENTRE

Newton, Mass., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The no-longer "Praying Colonels" from Centre College out-rushed and outfought Boston College for the third time in as many years today and went down to defeat by the slim margin of 6-0, the result of last-minute touchdown that never fails the Eagles against these Southern visitors.

Two years ago the Colonels preyed on B. C. until they tired in the last few minutes of play and made a slight mistake that the Eagles converted into a touchdown. The story was the same last year, when B. C. won 7-0, and again today.

Centre, after three magnificent scoring drives, were checked by intercepted passes, was pushed back to its goal-line while exchanging punts line in the final period. Hendren, Centre's outstanding ground-gainer, punted out to midfield and Freitas ran it back to the 30.

Blake, only consistent gainer in the B. C. backfield, was on the bench, resting up for such a break and he rushed back into the fray. He slammed out side his left tackle twice for 15 yards and once off his right tackle for a first down on Centre's one-yard line. Here the Colonels stiffened and Blake was forced to make three plunges before going over for the touchdown. Centre blocked Freitas' drop-kick try for extra point.

Centre rushed for 11 first downs and 206 yards against seven first downs and a 149-yard rushing advance for Boston College. The Eagles were only able to work three of their 16 forwards for a total of 44 yards and Centre completed six of its 19 for 41 yards.

HEADS SURGEONS

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—Dr. Robert E. Greenough of Boston today was elected president of the American College of Surgeons for a one year term beginning in 1934.

Dr. Charles A. Dukes of Berkley, Cal., was named first vice president and Dr. Roscoe R. Graham of Toronto second vice president.

Jimmie Foxx, Slugging King Of American League Named As Most Valuable Player

New York, Oct. 12-(AP)-Jimmie Foxx, slugging king of the American league today entered that select circle of players who twice have been named as "most valuable" to their team thru the season's campaign and stands by himself as the only one ever selected twice in succession for that honor.

In a brisk voting tussle with manager Joe Cronin and Heinie Manush of the championship Washington club, Foxx emerged with a clean-cut margin. He was named first by four members of the committee of eight, representing the baseball writers association of America, and polled 74 points out of the possible maximum of 80. He was rated second by three experts and fourth by one. Cronin and Manush each received two first place nominations and a total of 62 and 54 points respectively.

The committee, of which Dennan Thompson, of the Washington Star acted as chairman, cast its votes on the basis of ten points for first place, nine for second, and so on.

In addition to being the only player in either league to win the honor twice in succession Foxx is one of three have been named two times. Walter Johnson, as a member of the Senators hurling staff, captured the award in 1913 and repeated in 1924, when he helped the Senators defeat the New York Giants in the World Series. Rogers Hornsby, now manager of the St. Louis Browns, won the National league "most valuable" player award in 1925 and again in 1929.

The selection of Foxx also marks the fourth time in six years that a member of the Athletics has been given the honor Mickey Cochrane topped the list in 1928 and Bob Grove in 1931.

In naming Foxx over Cronin, who won the award in 1930, the writers rated the Philadelphian's hitting as the decisive factor. With 48 homers he retained the home run crown, topped the American league in batting with an unofficial average of .355, and set the pace for both leagues in runs batted in, with 159.

"He is the greatest all-around ball player in the game today," Cronin said recently.

Babe Ruth failed to receive a vote for the first time since 1927. Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, was ranked fourth, Grove, fifth, and Charley Gehringer of the Tigers, sixth.

The complete vote: Jimmy Foxx, Athletics, 74; Joe Cronin, Senators, 62; Heinie Manush, Senators, 54; Lou Gehrig, Yankees, 39; Lefty Grove, Athletics, 35; Charley Gehringer, Tigers, 32; Al Crowder, Senators, 28; Al Simmons, White Sox, 19; Earl Whitehill, Senators, 18; Oscar Melillo, Browns, 12; Sam West, Browns, 11; Rick Ferrell, Red Sox, 9; Bill Dickey, Yankees 9; Tony Lazzeri, Yankees, 6; Joe Kuhel, Senators, 5; Earl Averill, Indians, 5; Buddy Myer, Senators 5; Mickey Cochrane, Athletics 5; Bob Johnson, Athletics, 5; Ben Chapman, Yankees, 4; Max Bishop, Athletics 1; Luke Appling, White Sox, 1 and Willie Kamm, Indians, 1.

FIND NO REASON FOR AIRPLANE DISASTER

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 12.—(AP)—The fatal crash of the United Air Lines New York-Chicago plane with death to seven persons near Chesterton, Ind., went down into history today as one of the unsolved tragedies of aviation.

An open verdict, stating the cause of the crash Tuesday night was unknown, was returned by Coroner Carl Davis of Porter county, at the conclusion of a closed inquest at which witnesses and officials of the company testified.

Dr. Davis said he believed two explosions occurred, one while the ship was still in the air and another when it struck the ground. The fire that enveloped the wreckage followed the second blast he said.

HOG PRICES 10 CENTS HIGHER

Chicago, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Hog prices were checked on their downward swing today by a smaller supply and better quality of receipts. With fresh arrivals totaling only 18,000 head and packers taking 8,000 direct, prices ruled steady to 10 cents higher in moderately active trading. The top stopped at $5.15 with the bulk of better grade hogs selling from $4.90 to $5.10.

Cattle trade was slow, but generally steady, considering the quality of offerings. No choice steers were on hand, the bulk of sale going between $5 and $6 with a few of the best above that figure. Light heifers reached $6.50 with several loads of light yearlings between $6 and $6.35.

Sheep and lambs declined 15 to 25 cents on a slow market. Receipts were heavier and demand was light. Best native lambs sold up to $7.35, as did rangers, but the bulk were around $7 to $7.15.

WANT-ADS

Satisfied patrons are always glad to pass the word along. People who use the Journal-Courier Want Ad Section for their marketing place consistently, prove how satisfactory it's results are, when they continue to pass the word along—word of the things they have to sell, or what they want to buy—of a situation wanted, or a job to be filled—of a home to rent or a home that is wanted—or whatever message that's to be conveyed to a waiting group of readers.

WELL, I HEAR SHADYSIDE HAS A RED HOT TEAM THIS YEAR... HOW ABOUT IT, FRECKLES?
PLENTY HOT, DAD... WE HAVE A PLAYER WHO COULD LICK NOTRE DAME ALL BY HIMSELF!
BOY!
WAIT'LL YOU SEE CRASH DAVIS!! HE PLAYED WITH PRINGLE LAST YEAR... HE'S BETTER THAN GOOD!
HE HASN'T BEEN IN A SHADYSIDE GAME YET, SO HOW DO YOU KNOW HE'S SUCH A HOT SHOT?
EASY, POP! HE NOT ONLY SAYS HE IS, BUT HE BACKS IT UP!! WHEN YOU SEE US PLAY MILFORD, YOU'LL SEE A SENSATION!!

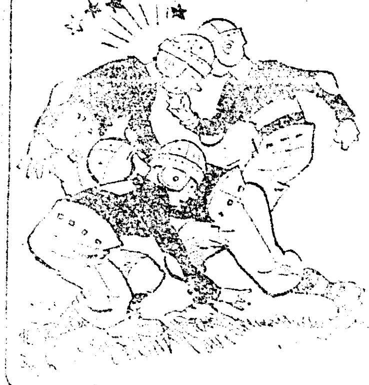
CLEAN FOOTBALL by JOCK SUTHERLAND

FAMOUS PITT COACH



A LOT goes on in a pile of football players that spectators seldom see; the referee, too, has a tough job getting to the bottom of a pile and taking in all the tricks employed by poor sports.

One action of a defensive backfield man who is backing up the line is deplorable—that is, striking a player carrying the ball in the face as he comes through the line. It's true that few try this action, but those who do give the game a black eye.

The back waits until the ball carrier gets through and then jolts back his head with a well-delivered blow under the chin.

This draws a penalty of 15 yards if classed as unnecessary roughness, and half distance to goal if classed as striking.

MINE FACTIONS JOIN IN HONOR OF VIRDEN DAY

Hold Rites in Memory Of Shooting Of Fourteen Men

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Open trouble was again avoided today in central and southern Illinois as members of the rival coal miners' unions celebrated the thirty-fifth anniversary of Virden day, when fourteen men were shot and killed while striking for the eight-hour day.

Virden day was celebrated both by members of the United Mine Workers of America, who participated in the 1898 outbreak in the Macoupin county coal town, and by the Progressive Miners of America, organized in Illinois a year ago during the protracted union warfare.

Miners still waited for the government at Washington to settle their troubles under the NRA bituminous coal code, and the day passed without violence at mines where striking Progressives have been denied work by operators employing members of mine workers' locals.

Progressive officials spoke at memorial services at Virden and Mt. Olive, honoring the victims of the mine riot and Mother Jones, who for five decades and more crusaded for better working conditions for coal diggers.

Hold Memorial Rites

At Taylorville, members of both unions held separate memorial services while national guardsmen redoubled vigilance to prevent a recurrence of the trouble that has flared along the midland coal field during recent months. Parades were forbidden.

The Virden riot thirty-five years ago was caused by the importation of miners to replace men who had gone on strike in effort to get an eight-hour day.

Plans to picket mines working at Springfield were called off this week by Progressive leaders to permit the NRA to make further attempts to compose the labor rivalries. Donald Richberg, NRA general counsel, was in Springfield last week to study the situation.

SUSPECT IS LYNCHED

Labadieville, La., Oct. 12.—(AP)—A negro, arrested yesterday for questioning in connection with the slaying of Miss Louisiana LaRose, 15-year-old white girl whose body was found in a field, was taken from the Labadieville jail today and lynched by a mob of unidentified men.

DISTRIBUTE SURPLUS BUTTER TO THE NEEDY

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Many million dollars worth of butter will be distributed to the needy in a new government effort to simultaneously improve unemployment relief and lighten the surplus pressure on prices.

Detailed figures are undecided, but Harry L Hopkins, relief administrator, has promised to buy "a substantial portion of the butter surplus." This surplus is estimated at 100,000,000 pounds more than a year ago and 45,000,000 greater than the last five years averaged.

To help bear the cost, the farm administration is considering a one cent a pound processing tax on butterfat. This would raise about $30,000,000.

Forgotten Sweetheart

BEGIN HERE TODAY

BOB WESTON, son of a millionaire, has fallen in love with JOAN WARING, pretty Memphis girl. Bob had come to Memphis in connection with a textile plant under construction for his father's company.

BARBARA COURTNEY, a society girl, is scheming to win him away from Joan.

PAT, Joan's younger sister, is infatuated with JERRY FORRESTER, son of her employer. MRS. WARING, hopeful that her two daughters will marry well and escape the drudgery that has been her lot, bends every effort to give her daughters advantages

Joan is invited to a house party through Barbara's efforts. Barbara realizes Joan will be ill at ease among so many strangers and will therefore appear at a disadvantage before Bob. Joan, offended by Bob's neglect, plays into Barbara's hands by driving to a barbecue supper with JIM WARFIELD. Barbara draws Joan into a bridge game after discovering that she is a novice and Joan, as Bob's partner, shows up badly among the experienced players.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII

JOAN was determined not to show her embarrassment, trying to think sensibly, conscious of her strained voice and stiff smile. Queer how anything so unimportant as a bridge game could seem so terribly important, as though it might affect the rest of one's life.

She wished she had refused to play. She would never have allowed herself to be drawn into a tennis game, knowing she was a poor player, or gone to a dance if she danced badly.

Barbara was playing an unusually good game. She seemed to make impossible contracts by some psychic bid or lucky play. Twice Bob praised her with a brief, "Good work, Barbara!"

The second rubber ended. Barbara suggested another rubber, since she and Fred were winners.

"I'm afraid we're not lucky today," Bob said. "How much do we owe you?"

"It's a 30 rubber. That's $1.50 each. We'll have to take you and Joan on again."

Joan was thinking passionately; "Never again with me!" She felt sick, bruised, as though she had taken a beating.

On the way upstairs to get her purse she passed the table where Jim was playing with Enid, Charlie and Caroll.

"How'd you come out?" Jim asked.

"We lost," said Joan.

"You'll always lose to Barbara," Jim said dryly. "She knows her game."

Yes, Joan admitted to herself. She would always lose to Barbara.

"Bridge is a fool pastime, but I'll teach you more about it if you'd care to learn," Jim said. "I'm cutting out of the game after this rubber. If you like I'll give you a lesson."

Joan accepted. She was grateful to him She felt easy and natural with Jim.

"Jim's going to give Joan lessons," Barbara said.

"Jim knows lots of games," Fred agreed. "'Wine, women and song.' The line was written about that fellow."

"Better warn your friend, Bob," said Barbara. "She seems to be falling for Jim's line."

Bob said nothing. He was thoroughly annoyed. He had been so proud to bring Joan here but something had certainly gone wrong. Joan didn't seem to be the same girl he had known in Memphis at all.

UPSTAIRS they were dressing for dinner. Joan, looking through her meager wardrobe, inspected Pat's red chiffon, loaned for the house party. She had brought, also, the white dress she had worn the night she sang at the Junior League benefit. Joan finally decided on the white. It was simpler but smarter than the chiffon.

She slipped into the dress, dusted clear skin with powder and added more rouge than usual to her lips. In the mirror she saw Barbara watching her. Their eyes met and held.

"Why," Joan thought, with a flash of intuition. "She's afraid of me!"

Barbara was wearing a black frock with a cape of gold sequins. She was a picture of sophistication with her highly colored finger nails and smooth, perfectly waved hair. No detail of her toilet had been overlooked.

"We are like two fighters girding for battle," Joan thought. There was a touch of high comedy about it all. She studied her reflection for a moment, then unclasped the antique necklace that had been her grandmother's, lifted it from her slender throat and laid it aside.

"Oh, Barbara, that dress is gorgeous!" cried Sally from the doorway.

"Barbara's out for more scalps. As if the blond scalp she's flaunting shouldn't be enough for any girl!" said Carol. "Shades of Helen of Troy, Cleopatra and the Queen of Sheba!"

"The girl has glamour," said Sally.

"Joan, you're lovely," Carol said. "I like your pale look. It's mysterious and alluring."

Bob was in the hall when the four girls descended. The sight of Joan stirred him. There was something forlorn about her, despite the gallant set to her head and shoulders. He thought she looked beautiful and a trifle sad.

"Hello," he said to Joan.

"Hello." Her voice was not quite steady, husky.

"Will you go in to dinner with me?" What he wanted to say was, "What's happened, Joan? You've had me on pins and needles."

"Why, of course," Joan told him.

THE table was centered by a silver basket of roses and jonquils. Dainty place cards marked the places of the guests.

"Sally—you and Fred there," Carol was saying. "Bob, you here by Barbara. Joan and Jim are over there."

"I'm toasting the best looking girl at the table," Jim whispered to Joan. "Will you drink it with me?"

Joan was about to say, "I don't drink," but stopped. Across the table Barbara had touched Bob's glass with her own, saying, "Here's to a good girl but not too good, for the good die young and I do hate a dead one."

"Barbara, my child, where did you resurrect that ancient toast?" Fred gibed. "That was my grandmother's favorite."

"I just happened to think of it," said Barbara.

Joan's thoughts were traveling a new path. "If I had been more like them he would have liked me better," she told herself.

She lifted her glass, smiling at Jim.

"I thought you were a young woman with ideas about life," he said. "What made you change your mind?"

He added, when she did not answer, "It's sensible to let the stuff alone." As Joan put down the goblet her feeling of depression lifted. Later she was even more light-hearted, laughing a great deal.

It was this young, clear laughter that caused Bob to frown down at his plate. People were smiling at this too-gay Joan. What was the matter with her? Attracting attention so boldly!

Dinner was over and Joan rose from the table. She stumbled slightly and stooped to untangle a fold of her dress from the chair. Jim put a steadying hand on her arm.

Bob heard Charlie saying to Sally, "Our little friend hasn't learned how to hold her liquor."

A colored orchestra in the alcove under the stairs began playing. Joan, swept from the arms of one man to another, felt as if she were in a different world. Fred was cutting in frequently. Charlie was bringing up new men and introducing them. Jim seemed always just at her elbow. She felt gayer than she had ever been in her life, yet paradoxically, there was a tightness about her heart, a pain somewhere.

"All I needed was to be like the others," she thought. But the thought did not bring happiness.

BOB, standing with the stag line against the wall, was trying to keep his eyes away from the slender figure in white, the long skirt swirling about as she danced. He had never seen Joan looking lovelier, more vivid, more shining. It was as though all the light in the room was concentrated on the slim form.

He would cut in the next time she danced past and he would tell her exactly what he thought of her strange behavior. Then a voice spoke behind him.

"The little girl from Memphis seems to be waking up. Guess it takes old Jim." Bob did not hear the rest of the sentence. He had walked away from the group. Joan floated by and he met her eyes, nodding coldly.

He had the next dance with Barbara. She welcomed him with a radiant smile, pressed his hand, and whispered, "Bob, I have a raging headache. Will you sit out the next dance with me?"

Some one claimed her and he stood back again, watching Joan. This new, strange Joan, having a whirl. Her dark eyes shining recklessly, her lips too scarlet. Held too closely in Jim Warfield's arms.

He cut in, crushing her against him savagely. Joan felt his arms tighten violently, possessively around her, and responded with a lift of the spirit, a surge of happiness.

Their steps fell together rhythmically. Her head was close against his shoulder. But when she glanced up at him, his face was set and cold.

"He doesn't like me any more." she thought. The happy mood slipped from her, replaced by one of dull misery.

Rally to Support of Constitution Pleads Chiperfield in Talk

A crowd estimated at one thousand assembled at the Auto Inn last night at the rally of Morgan county Republicans to hear Col. B. M. Chiperfield of Canton. The speaker made an analysis of the issues of the day, and in his concluding remarks declared that the only thing which stands between the nation and the tide of Communism today is the Republican party. He pleaded for the citizens to rally to the support of constitutional principles, under which the nation has lived and prospered for 150 years.

The speaker declared that the attitude taken by the Democratic administration that its policies must not be criticised or discussed is not American and is unwholesome. He said he wanted it understood that he hoped prosperity would again shine upon this nation with the affulgent power of God Almighty's sun, and that if the present President can bring it back with the methods he is now using, he should have the credit for it. "And I am willing," said the speaker, "to co-operate in every way. I believe Republicans have heeded the plea of the administration that partisanship shall be laid aside. They have done their best to co-operate. They did that during President Wilson's administration, and they are doing it now.

"But I cannot see why Democratic policies should always be beyond criticism, or why they cannot be discussed. That was the attitude Mr. Wilson took, and if any man discussed his policies, he was visited by the United States marshal. If the country must renounce free speech, there is a different policy than ever existed during Republican administrations. The very policies Democrats now praise, they denounced when they were brought forward by Republicans.

"The Democratic members of the 72nd Congress bolted the control of Speaker Garner and Floor Leader Rainey to smash the sales tax. But the Democrats of Illinois do not hesitate to place it on the backs of the citizens for the benefit of Cook county. When Secretary Hyde of the Hoover administration suggested that every third row of cotton be plowed under, Democrats denounced the proposal with venom. But the present administration has the same policy accepted as tho it were the word of God. A suggestion by Republicans that the production of livestock should be curtailed was treated with scorn; but the Democrats slaughter 6,000,000 head of livestock, and spread part of it over the fields as fertilizer, while men and women are starving.

"I remember in Congress Democrats Patman of Texas and Rankin of Mississippi advocated the payment of the soldiers' bonus. The purpose was to embarrass the Hoover administration at a time when there was no money to pay a bonus. Many service men voted for Mr. Roosevelt because the bonus was not paid. No sooner was the new President chosen than he cut the compensation of service men by half a billion dollars.

"He has announced a new doctrine, that just because a man wears a uniform is no reason why he should expect any more than any other citizen. That is the new deal for the service man, who must learn that the Republican party has ever been the friends of the soldier."

The speaker quoted from one of the federal administrators to the effect that Russia and Germany are changing their governments by force, but that the peaceful revolution in the United States has already begun, and that this government is now in the process of changing from one political concept to another. The speaker denounced what he termed the departure from our Constitutional ideals.

The Program.

J. C. Colton, chairman of the Morgan County Republican Central Committee, presided. The Woods Brothers quartet sang three numbers, "We're in the Money," "Down by the Old Mill Stream" and "Tiger." Two special guests were introduced to the large audience: Hon. Homer Tice of Petersburg, who spoke briefly, being the first. He commented on the splendid crowd and assured the people of a revival of Republicanism now in progress. The other guest was Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, who told the audience that he and Representatives Hugh Green and William Lawler are doing their part in trying to hold the line in the legislature for the taxpayers of the Corn Belt. "Before this special session ends," he said, "we shall have plenty to say of the Democratic Tammany which has corrupted Cook county and is now seeking to ruin the entire state. We are trying to protect Illinois from that organization and its wrecking policies."

Mayor W. A. Wainright was introduced and welcomed the rallying Republicans. He said it looked as tho the G. O. P. were coming back into its own and predicted success for the present party candidates on Nov. 7. Hon. Hugh Green was introduced and then presented the Republican candidates to the audience. C. O. Bayha, A. B. Opperman, Perry White, Jerry Hawks and J. W. Jackson were presented as candidate for justice of the peace, and Howard Burch, Herbert Holmes, Albert Biggs and William Reynolds as candidates for constable. Lloyd Magill was introduced as the party's candidate for county commissioner. Mr. Green urged support of the ticket in the coming election.

Col. Chiperfield was presented to the audience by Judge H. P. Samuell, who declared that Democrats had indicated that they intended to push their own cause, and that he was ready for a fight at any time and especially in the coming election.

Following the rally program scores of young people went to the second floor of the Auto Inn to enjoy the free dance, which continued until midnight. The Rhythm Ramblers furnished the music and several hundred persons remained to dance. The large assembly which heard Col. Chiperfield gave the closest attention, and many commendations of his address were heard.

Preceding the evening's program DeSilva's drum corps gave several selections.

J. E. Whorten of Concord was a Thursday shopper in the city.

COMMENDS FIRE DRILLS MADE BY LOCAL SCHOOLS

State Fire Marshal Sherman V. Coultas made an inspection of the high school and four ward school buildings yesterday afternoon and held fire drills at each school.

No previous announcement of the fire drills was made, Mr. Coultas sounding the fire alarm at each building while the pupils were at their usual work. The drills were timed by the fire marshal and he reports that the buildings were all vacated in good time and the teachers and students are to be commended. Mr. Coultas stated that the drill at the new Washington building was almost perfect.

The fire drill system at the high school was praised very highly by the fire marshal. The system is organized with a fire chief and assistant in every room. As soon as the fire alarm sounds, the chief and his assistants rush to their respective stations and as soon as a room is vacated, the assistant reports to the chief, who checks off a list of the room numbers. The system is thoroughly organized and the drill is carried out in clockwork order, vacating the building in record time.

FIRE PREVENTION TALKED AT MEETING

Fire prevention is a National problem and every individual must cooperate if the great lossses from fires are to be greatly reduced and not depend solely upon the various fire officials of both the city and the state was a statement emphasized last night by Sherman V. Coultas, state fire marshal, when he addressed the members of the Lions club in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

The speaker pointed out that many destructive fires are due to arson, and while there was a decrease in the number of such cases during the summer months, the past few weeks have been marked with a sharp increase in fires of incendiary origin. Mr. Coultas stated that during last year 933 cases were investigated by the state fire marshal's office, and of this total, 91 convictions were obtained, 35 of which came as the result of the breaking up of a racket in Cook county.

The depression has caused a setback to fire prevention, the speaker stated, and many fire hazards have arisen due largely to the inability to keep buildings and property in repair. The people can greatly assist in preventing fires by good, clean housekeeping and keeeping all premises free from any fire hazards, as it is much easier to fight fires before they start. The local fire department was commended very highly for its efficicency and the routine inspections which keep the city at a minimum in possibility of big fires.

APPROVE LOANS

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—The Home Owners' Loan Corporation has approved 1,403 loan applications totaling $5,612,000 during the first nine weeks of its active operation in Illinois, it was announced today by William F. Donne, state manager.

RAISE ALLOWANCE OF RURAL CARRIERS

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—An executive order raising the equipment allowance of rural mail carriers from one to three cents net a mile during November, December, January and February was issued today by the postoffice department.

The equipment allowance was cut by the postmaster general during the summer months in an economy plan.

Joseph C. O'Mahoney, first assistant postmaster general, said the increase in equipment allowance was granted "in consideration of the additional expense during winter months when road conditions are at their worst."

SURVIVORS OF SEA TRAGEDY TELL STORIES

See Twenty-One of Their Mates Go To Death When Storm Wrecks Vessel

Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Lone survivors of a grim tragedy of the sea, five Greek sailors reached port today aboard a rescue vessel, telling of a terrific hurricane which sent their ship, the freighter Annoula, and 21 of their mates to the ocean's bottom.

They were picked up Sunday night by the Italian steamship Montello in a thrilling rescue after spending 36 hours in a small open boat, battered by raging Atlantic seas and drifting they knew not where.

The hurricane struck the vessel 600 miles off the coast of North Carolina early Friday. With terrific force, it smashed her superstructure, battered her hull, and sent her to the bottom.

Captain George Couvielos and four of his crew—Boatswain Vassilio Pappas; Panagio Diacatos, cook, and Isadore Cheras and Johannus Mathison, sailors—managed to keep afloat one of the small boats. They were picked up 110 miles off Bermuda, many miles from where the wreck occurred.

The rescue was made in the dead of night by the Montello, commanded by Captain Antonio De Gregorio. The five drifting seamen, shouting and calling, were heard by the Montello's crew. A searchlight was turned on them and they were pulled aboard, small boat and all, while mountainous seas swept down on them.

"The storm struck us Friday and continued all day," said Captain Couvielos, who was confined to his stateroom because of injuries received in swimming to the small boat floated from the Annoula.

"We were riding it out pretty well, but by midnight, it had reached ferocious proportions and continued until 1:30 a. m.

"I went to my quarters then and sent for the wireless operator, intending to command him to send out an S O S. He opened the door of my cabin, standing in water ankle deep, and as he attempted to enter a vast wave broke over the ship and I saw him carried overboard.

"I was knocked down and apparently senseless, but I came to, swimming in my own stateroom.

"The water was rising rapidly and I thought my quarters would be my tomb when another wave suddenly ripped off the top of the cabin and I was swimming in the open sea. I saw the funnels of the ship for a moment and they were only a few feet above water.

"I managed to reach the one lifeboat which had not foundered. The four men were in it and they pulled me in."

MORE FAMILIES ADDED TO LIST GETTING RELIEF

Increase Here Since October 1 Shows Average of Two Families Daily

Since the first day of October families placed on the relief roll for Morgan county and Jacksonville have averaged two per day, according to a report given out at the Social Service League. On October 1 there were 597 families in the city and county on the relief roll and 24 have been placed on this list since that time. The increase in persons seeking relief in the city is blamed on increased unemployment here.

Seventy-one families have applied for relief and took out affidavit blanks since the first of the month, 52 in the city and 19 in the county. Every person must make affidavit before relief is given the applicant. Of the 71 families asking for relief, 14 in the city were placed on the relief roll and ten outside the county are being given assistance.

Of the total number of applicants who were given affidavits 30 have been returned, and one individual was admitted to the Morgan county farm.

BOMB MAY HAVE CAUSED WRECK OF AIRLINER

Indiana Coroner Plans To Investigate Deaths Of Seven Persons

Valparaiso, Ind., Oct. 12—(AP)—Coroner Carl Davis of Potter county tonight said he was investigating among other things, the possibility that a bomb or other explosive may have caused the wreck of the United Air Lines plane at Chesterton Tuesday night which caused the deaths of seven persons, but added he considered the possibility exceedingly remote.

The theory presented itself according to the coroner, during an inspection of some wreckage of the rear or baggage compartment which escaped consumption by flames that followed the crackup.

Indications were that some sort of an explosion had occurred in the compartment, he said, but there was no evidence of the exact nature of the explosion.

"Also," he added, "the appearance may have been caused by the terrific impact with which the plane struck earth."

A small bore rifle was found in the baggage of one of the victims but Coroner Davis attached no importance to that.

He said he would continue investigation of various angles of the accident for several days after which the inquest would be reopened.

Theodore Baldwin, of Reno, Nev., today viewed the body of Miss Dorothy Dwyer of Arlington, Mass., one of those who died in the crash. This was to have been their wedding day. Baldwin, a former Boston broker, said he would accompany the body east when it is returned to Miss Dwyer's home for burial.

K. OF C. MEMBERS OBSERVE COLUMBUS DAY WITH PROGRAM

Jacksonville Council No. 868, Knights of Columbus, contributed their part last evening to the national celebration to the patron of the order, Christopher Columbus, by a special program, befitting of the occasion. The national program consisted of a radio broadcast from almost every state in the union. Addresses by men of national repute in the affairs of the order were given over this huge broadcast, during the early hours of the evening.

In addition to the evening's radio program, Supreme Knight Martin H. Carmody broadcast a Columbus Day address over the red network of the National Broadcasting Co., at 12:45 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, the key station being in Chicago. Further manifestations of this great day for Columbianism was demonstrated by various other celebrations by all the councils throughout the United States and Canada.

This event was observed by the local council in a special program at the conclusion of their regular meeting, which by coincidence fell on Columbus Day. The principal address of the evening's program was given by District Deputy James V. Kennedy, whose vivid portrayal of the life of Columbus demonstrated his rise from a lowly occupation to the conqueror of the world. He pointed out how his perserverance and determination fitted in to the present ideals of the order.

Past Grand Knight John Merrigan added some fitting remarks, urging the support of the members and officers to the order. Musical entertainment was provided by Mr. Hickox of harmonica fame and by Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Hopper, who entertained with a rendition of melodious Hawaiian music.

The meeting was concluded with refreshments. The entertainment features of the program were introduced by Dr. V. Lenth, lecturer of the council, who prefaced the introductions by a few short remarks on "Loyalty to the Order."

JOHN JETT DIES THURSDAY NIGHT AT GREENFIELD

Sandoval, Ill., Farmer Taken Ill While Visiting His Daughter

Greenfield, Ill., Oct. 12.—(Special)—John Jett, 72, of Sandoval, Ill., died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alvin Carter, two and one half miles north of Greenfield, at 9:30 o'clock tonight after an illness of six days.

Mr. Jett who is a prominent farmer residing near Sandoval, came to Greenfield ten days ago to visit his daughter. He was taken ill shortly after his arrival.

He was born near Salem, Ill., Sept. 14, 1861, a son of Edward and Sarah Farthing Jett. His parents preceded him in death.

He was united in marriage to Miss Alice Lynch, August 14, 1887. To this union five children were born, four of whom with the widow survive; two sons, Everett Jett, Salem, Maurice Jett, Sandoval, two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Courson, Salem and Mrs. Alvin Carter, Greenfield. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Louis Farthing, Salem and Miss Mary Ellen Jett, Lake Odessa, Mich., one brother, Loren Jett Odin, Ill., twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The remains were taken to the Shields & Sons Mortuary, and will be removed to Sandoval for burial.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DAVID GOLDBLATT PLEADS TO REMAIN IN HIS JAIL CELL

Gus Winkler's Payoff Man Does Not Want To Be Released

Chicago, Oct. 12—(AP)—The investigation into the slaying of Gus Winkler and the $250,000 mail robbery which authorities connected with his death and the suicide of Edgar Lebensberger, night club operator, moved forward today as the gangster's body was taken to St. Louis for burial.

Chief of detectives Schoemaker ordered the release of David Goldblatt, reputed to be Winkler's payoff man, after questioning him in connection with the murder, but Goldblatt pleaded to remain in a cell.

It was Goldblatt's automobile that Winkler rode to the Charles H. Weber beer distributing company where assassin's shotguns filled the notorious hoodlum's body with lead

Meanwhile, federal officials sought seven additional men in connection with the mail robbery. They said the men were Louis Fratto, Samuel Labow, Thaddeus S. Stevens, Julius Riseman, Louis C. Perrett, alias Louis Wojak, Samuel Davis, all of Chicago, and Alex J. Miller, said to be from Detroit. Lebensberger's death came before he could be questioned about the robbery.

The authorities continued their search for safe deposit boxes kept by Winkler while they prepared to open one rented in the name of Lyons, but believed to be really that of Lebensberger.

Before Winkler's silver and bronze casket left the mortuary, a long line of curious filed past it, including Margaret Mary Collins, dubbed the "Kiss of Death" girl because six of her suitors died as Winkler did—at the hands of gangsters.

MORRIS COHEN, POLICE KILLER ELECTROCUTED

First Man To Be Given The Extreme Penalty In War On Crime

Chicago, Oct. 13—(AP)—(Friday)—Morris Cohen, 35, paid with his life in the electric chair at Cook county jail early today for the murder of policeman Joseph Hastings. He was the first man to be executed during the current police campaign against crime.

Cohen was placed in the chair shortly after midnight. The current was switched on at 12:07 and at 12[illegible] he was pronounced dead. The current was on two and one-half minutes. It was the first execution to take place here since January 15, 1932. Cohen was rushed to trial and sentenced to death nine days after he shot and killed policeman Hastings during a robbery August 12 at navy pier. Earlier in the day three physicians who examined the condemned man declared him legally sane.

Cohen's attorney had appeared before the board of pardons and paroles in Springfield and pleaded that mob hysteria had caused the death sentence to be imposed. The board, after an executive session, announced that clemency had been denied, and Governor Henry Horner declared he would not interfere with the sentence.

Four other men are in the jail awaiting execution early Monday for the shooting of policeman Harry Redlich.
